HITLER'S SETBACK IN GERMAN ELECTIONS

Nazi Tide Ebbing: Striking Rise in Communist Vote

HOLT LINER IN DIRE PERIL

HIT BY HURRICANE IN CARIBBEAN

S.O.S. ALARM

FUNNEL CARRIED AWAY; HOLDS FILL

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Nov. 6.

Urgent S.O.S. signals are being sent out by the Hongkong-bound Blue Funnel liner, Phenius, which has been badly smashed up by a hurricane in the Caribbean Sea and appears to be in peril of sinking.

According to a message from Colon, Panama, the nearest vessel to the distressed ship is the British cargo steamer Ariguan, which is now rushing to the assistance of the Phenius.

A terrific storm has been raging in the Caribbean and apparently the Phenius got right in the thick of it. Her funnel was carried away during one of the fierce squalls and the raging seas have so damaged her that all four holds are filling.

NORTH OF COLON.

The Phenius has given her position as about two hundred and fifty miles to the north of Colon and the Ariguan is expected to reach her within a few hours.

Captain D. C. L. Evans is the master of the Phenius, which is on the Hongkong-New York service and left New York for Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai and Japan on October 22. She was nearing the Panama for her trans-Pacific voyage when the hurricane burst upon her.

7,000-TONS SHIP.

She is a staunch vessel of about 7,000 tons gross, built in 1921 by Scott's Shipbuilding Company of Greenock, for the Ocean Steamship Company. She is 169.1 feet long, is 56.2 feet in breadth and 32.5 feet deep.

She is primarily built for cargo-carrying, though she had limited accommodation aboard for passengers.

ARIGUANA TO RESCUE.

The Ariguan, now going to the rescue of her officers and crew, is also a large-type freighter, built for fast service. She is a vessel of 6,746 tons and is operated by Elders and Fyffes, Ltd. of Glasgow.

The Phenius' first S.O.S. message indicated that she was in grave peril. The heavy seas created by the hurricane are sweeping across her decks, and water is pouring into her through the gap left by the missing funnel.

PRAVA FRACAS TRAGEDY

ONE OF ACCUSED TO GET OFF

Notice of the withdrawal of a charge of murder against one of the men held in connexion with the recent fracas on the seafloor, was given by Mr. J. A. Fraser, assistant attorney general, at the General Police Court this morning, when making application for a date to be fixed for the hearing.

Mr. Fraser said there was little evidence against one man and the Crown would withdraw against him. The only evidence was that he was present and involved in an assault.

Both accused, who are represented by Mr. Horace Lo, were remanded until Tuesday, November 15 for hearing.

DETECTIVE SLAIN

ARMED HOLD-UP OF MONEY-CHANGERS

TACKLES BANDIT
WHEN UNARMED

Shanghai, Nov. 7.

An unarmed Chinese detective, a member of the Shanghai Municipal Police, was shot down and killed last night during a brave attempt to capture an armed robber.

The gangster had just held up a Chinese money-changer's establishment and had compelled the folk to hand over all notes of high denomination, and was just getting away with an extremely rich haul when the detective appeared on the scene.

Despite the fact that he was unarmed and the bandit was handling his gun menacingly, the Chinese detective grappled with the robber.

POINT-BLANK RANGE.

He was met with a quick fire from pointblank range and collapsed, dying before medical help was available.

By this time, however, a general alarm had been set up and the bandit was in serious danger. He turned and fled, firing at his pursuers, who included a Russian civilian named Ellors, who though unarmed, played an important part in the final capture of the murderer.—Reuter.

BROKE INTO GARAGE

CHINESE SENT TO PRISON

Mr. Ho Leung and Mr. Ho Ki appeared as joint complainants before Mr. Kennedy Skipton, at the Central Police Court this morning when a Chinese was charged with breaking and entering a garage at 42, Kennedy Road, with intent to commit a felony.

Detective Sergeant Carruthers said that at 2.30 p.m. yesterday Mr. Ho Leung's chauffeur went to the garage for the car and noticed that the door was open. He saw two men inside, one of whom escaped. The defendant, however, was seized. The men had levered the padlock off the door and had also forced open a chest containing motor car accessories.

The cars had been put into the garage about half an hour before the defendant was arrested, and

FLOOD PERIL IN HARBIN

SPRING DISASTER

HABITS OF THE SUNGARI

(Special to "Telegraph")

Harbin, Nov. 7.

If past experience is to be accepted as a reliable guide, Harbin has in prospect another flood disaster in the Spring of next year, perhaps even more serious than the catastrophe of the last summer.

The alarming view of the outlook is the result of a study of the position by river experts, based upon the habits of the Sungari River.

Past records show that almost without fail, the Sungari rises, in the early Spring, from two to three metres above the river level of the last week in October of the previous year.

HIGHER THAN IN AUGUST.

This rise, coming annually, offers no terrors as a general rule as the Sungari in late October is usually at a fairly low level. This year, however, the river although falling considerably after the August disaster, was still running remarkably high at the end of October.

From the levels taken, it is consequently easily possible that the Sungari in April next will be from 30 to 60 centimetres higher than the highest levels reached during this year's floods, in which event, Harbin would be completely inundated.—Reuter.

SERVICE

The s.s. Apo, formerly belonging to the late King Manuel of Portugal and later the official yacht of the Governor General of the Philippines was sold last week for pesos 6,150 at a public auction held under the auspices of the United States Army to which organization it was recently returned by order of Governor General Theodore Roosevelt, as an economy measure.

Ramon Chuah Suy, Manila Chinese shipping man, made the winning bid, outbidding five others.

The historic yacht will be converted into a passenger liner and placed on service between the Philippines and South China, according to the purchaser.

DEADLOCK STILL PERSISTS

NAZIS AND SOCIALISTS
PREDOMINATE

NO ENCOURAGEMENT FOR VON PAPEN

BERLIN, NOV. 7.

GERMAN'S PARLIAMENTARY DEADLOCK PERSISTS. YESTERDAY'S ELECTION HAS SOLVED NONE OF THE PROBLEMS. HERR VON PAPEN, THE CHANCELLOR, STILL FACES AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY AGAINST HIM IN THE REICHSTAG. THE NAZIS HAVE LOST HEAVILY AND THE SOCIALISTS AND CENTRE HAVE ALSO OBTAINED FEWER SEATS. THE ONLY MARKED GAINS HAVE BEEN SECURED BY THE COMMUNISTS AND HERR HUGENBURG'S GERMAN NATIONAL PARTY.

The final (provisional) figures as compared with the July elections are as follows:

NOVEMBER ELECTION.	JULY 31 ELECTION.
Nazis	195
Socialists	120
Communists	99
Centre	70
German Natis	49
Bav. Peoples	18
German Peoples	11
Others	14
Nazis	229
Socialists	133
Communists	89
Centre Party	86
German Natis	37
Bav. Peoples	20
German Peoples	7
Others	11

Minor clashes were reported from various parts of the country, for example, in Bremen, where Communists and Nazis came into collision with the result that one Nazi was seriously wounded and twenty-three of the fighters were arrested. In Brunswick, the Nazis and members of the Reichsbanner clashed and some of both groups were wounded. All was peaceful in Berlin, though fifty arrests have been made for obstruction in the past twenty-four hours.

NO PRACTICAL VALUE IN CHANGES

Seventy per cent. of the electorate had, it was estimated, recorded their votes by four o'clock in the afternoon, while the general spirit was illustrated in Mecklenburg where a hundred per cent. poll was reported from seventeen villages.

In these districts, the German Nationals scored 365 votes as compared with 232 in the July elections, while the Nazis, still leaders, polled 331 votes as compared with 393 in July. The Socialists also suffered a setback in Mecklenburg, polling 193 votes against 231 in July.

FEARS JUSTIFIED.

That the fears of the Nazis that they reached the peak of their influence over the voters in July were justified was revealed quite early in the count. When the first three million votes had been counted, at 8.40 p.m. last night, the Nazis' share was 981,000—only thirty-two per cent. of the poll as against 98 per cent. in July—while the Socialists were heavily in arrears of their last figures, securing 694,000 votes, or under 20 per cent.

A marked improvement had already shown itself in the Communist figures, 587,000 out of the first 3,000,000 votes, while the Centre Party had obtained 385,000, the German Nationals, 293,000, the Bavarian Peoples Party, 78,000 and the German Peoples Party, 66,000.

The counting went on and by nine o'clock it was already evident that the election would again result in a Parliamentary deadlock and that in spite of the appeals on behalf of the von Papen Government, the existing German Government would be faced with an overwhelming majority against it in the new Reichstag.

At 9.45 p.m. approximately 12,900,000 votes had been counted and the percentages had revealed little important change. Of the total at this stage, the parties had obtained the following votes:

Nazis	4,224,000
Socialists	2,581,000
Communists	2,310,000
Centre	1,701,000
Nationals	1,121,000
Bavarian Peoples	220,000
German Peoples	226,000
State Party	119,000
Social Service	142,000

The Nazis and the Socialists were heavily in arrears of their July totals at this stage and the Communists and German Nationals had achieved marked gains.

NAZI LOSSES.

The Nazi losses were at least 20 per cent. as compared with July, while the Nationalists, Communists and Peoples Parties were gaining steadily. The Centre Party remains more or less stationary and the Socialists were losing ground.—Reuter.

Although the final figures in the election are still not available, it is clear that Herr Hitler has suffered a severe setback, while the German National leader, Herr Hugenburg, has

NO APPOINTMENT MADE

Canton, Nov. 6.

A mild sensation was created here by the statement made by Mr. Chu Min-yi, Secretary General of the Nanking Executive Yuan, who declared that the appointment by the South-West Political Council of three delegates to attend the third plenary session of the Central Executive Committee was unprecedented, adding that although members unable to attend might ask others to submit their written proposals to the session, no members of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee were entitled to appoint proxies.

From high official circles, the Central Press learned to-day that the criticism by Mr. Chu Min-yi is not based on facts, as the South-West Political Council has had nothing to do with the appointment of delegates to the third plenary session. In fact, the report of the appointment of three delegates is unfounded.

The Central Press is informed that members of the Central Executive Committee residing in Canton will proceed to Nanking to attend the third plenary session, except those who are tied down by important official posts. Hence there is no necessity for acting by proxy. In point of fact, no such suggestion has ever been made by the C.E.C. members here, who wonder on what Mr. Chu's outburst is based.—Central Press.

scored a victory. The Communists, the Peoples Parties and the States Party have also obtained a markedly improved voting strength.

MIDNIGHT POSITION.

The state of the parties at 11.50 p.m. when nearly 29,000,000 votes had been counted was:

Nazis	157 seats
Socialists	96 "
Communists	82 "
Centre	59 "
Nationals	39 "
Bav. Peoples	14 "
Ger. Peoples	9 "
Others	11 "

FINAL SPURT.

Fifteen minutes after midnight, the total of votes counted was over 34,000,000 and the process was almost complete. The state of the parties at this stage was:

Nazis	189
Socialists	110
Communists	97
Centre	64
German Nationals	48
Bav. People	16
German Peoples	10
Others	14

Afterwards both the Nazis and the Centre Party made a distinct spurt in the voting, gaining six

JAPANESE COMMENCE CAMPAIGN

ANTA HEAVILY BOMBED

Harbin, Nov. 7.
Vigorous aerial bombing raids are being organised by the Japanese military authorities, to be followed later by a land expedition, in an effort to relieve the anti-Manchukuo pressure upon Taitshar, and the menace of the anti-Manchukuo operations in the Harbin area.

Yesterday, a powerful squadron of aeroplanes sailed down upon the town of Anta, some seventy miles to the north-west of Harbin, on the Chinese Eastern Railway, and heavily bombed the city, where a large force of Volunteers have been concentrated.

The bombing raid was made from Taitshar where the Japanese have established a strong air base. Noho, another anti-Manchukuo stronghold, ninety miles to the north of Taitshar, was next to feel the power of Japan's air arm. The Japanese schedule provides for the bombardment of Noho from the air to-day.

In the meantime, following the air attack on Anta, a combined Japanese and Manchukuo force is now advancing to the city, where a severe battle is expected.—Reuter.

seats each as compared with five for all other parties.—Reuter.

VOTING STRENGTHS.

Berlin, Later.
The final provisional list of votes shows that 35,409,718 votes were cast, considerably less than in July. Of these the parties secured:

Nazis	11,712,988
Socialists	7,233,534
Communists	6,972,702
Centre	4,228,364
German Natis	2,951,839
Bavarian Peoples	1,080,124
German Peoples	659,931
State Party	326,805
Christian Soc	402,800
Economic Party	110,330
Agarian	164,348

Many seats were lost through votes cast for a freak invalid party, which secured 504,055 votes. One seat is secured for every sixty thousand votes cast.—Reuter.

THE PERCENTAGES

Mr. Hoff, of the Deaf Company, this morning picked up by wireless a message giving the Party strengths. In percentages, when 34,000,000 votes had been cast. For all practical purposes, this represents the result of the election, as very few more votes remained to be cast.

The figures are as follows:—National Socialist, 33.3; Social Democrat, 20.8; Communist, 17; Centre, 11.7; German National, 8; Bavarian Peoples' Party, 3; German Peoples' Party, 2.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

The hands shown in this series for days past have been selected from the national championship tournament of the American Bridge League held recently. Each hand has illustrated a clever play by one of the country's leading experts and one might gain the impression that the tournament was an unbroken succession of brilliancies.

While the standard of play was probably higher than at any contract tournament ever held, even the finest players err at times, and when they do it is apt to prove very costly.

Today's hand was played by four of the strongest players in the tournament, but courtesy forbids mentioning their names.

The Bidding.

South opened with two no trump, preferring to conceal the two-suited nature of his hand, and if possible to score his 150 aces. West passed, and North bid three spades. South now believed a slam was possible and prepared for it by a psychic bid of four diamonds, hoping to prevent a lead of that suit. North bid four no trump and South jumped to six no trump, which West doubled.

The Play.

South was obviously at a bad contract for he could barely make three no trump against good defence. However, if we place ourselves in West's position, we cannot much blame him for reasoning the hand out as he did. His king of diamonds appeared to be a sure trick behind the diamond bidder and he was anxious to establish another trick in hearts immediately to make certain of defeating the contract.

Accordingly he led the king of hearts. North played low and East, having no hearts, was obliged to make a discard. He obviously could not afford to discard a spade and did not wish to weaken his diamond holding, for declarer had bid that suit. Consequently his only safe discard appeared to be a small club.

Declarer won the trick with the ace, and due to East's club discard was able to run off five club tricks immediately. He then conceded West the queen of hearts and took in the remaining tricks.

His cleverly used psychic diamond bid had deceived both opponents so completely that he was able to make six no trump doubled, on a hand which should have been defeated three tricks.

OBITUARY

WEALTHY LOCAL CHINESE MERCHANT

The funeral of the late Mr. Leung Yiu-hing, well known Chinese merchant, manager of the Wing Fat Printing Company, Hongkong, and other printing enterprises in Macao, who died some two weeks ago at his residence in Happy Valley, took place on Saturday. The long funeral procession, with foreign and Chinese bands, the picturesque representation by children of Chinese gods and the hundreds of attendants attracted much attention, when it passed the Central district at 11 a.m.

The deceased was 48 and is survived by his wife, son and daughter, also a grandson and a grand-daughter.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the religious service held at the Yat Pit Ting, Kennedy Town.

The remains were interred at the Aberdeen Cemetery. Hundreds of wreaths were received, including those from prominent local residents.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Han Ball, an agent for cattle interests, faces Asper Delo in his office. Ball accuses Delo of having men shot who are sent out to check his timbering activities at Three Rivers. Ball says he is making a personal check. Delo says he will personally see that Ball does not make the check.

Upon leaving Delo's office, Ball saves a girl from kidnapping. She proves to be Delo's daughter, Dona. When Ball learns her name he tells her he is Stanley Black and slips away.

Dudley Winters, in love with Dona, agrees to go to Three Rivers and get Delo to come back. Dona goes with him and at their first stop Dudley produces a marriage licence and urges Dona to marry him, arguing that Delo will not go on a manhunt if they do. Dona barely misses the marriage by meeting Ball on his way to Three Rivers.

At the camp, Swergin, Asper's timber boss, tries to make Dona stay in camp. She slips away from him as he has ordered to watch her and rides. She sees her father attacked and shot. Swergin comes to her rescue. Dudley and Swergin both warn her not to ride alone as Ball will attack her as he has her father. Dona goes out again and when she starts back finds she is followed. Her pursuer proves to be Swergin, who takes her back to camp in spite of the fact that she lashes him across the face. Asper is much worse. The storekeeper is knocked out and his place robbed. Ball is blamed.

CHAPTER XV

Dudley did not return with Swergin for half an hour. Dona sat where she could watch her father who lay pretending to be dozing. She was sure Asper was only pretending and that behind his half-closed eyes he was planning what he would do, once he was able to be up.

Swergin appeared from the doctor's cabin with Dudley at his heels and Dona arose. She wanted to meet the timber boss far enough away from her father's room so that he could not hear what she had to say.

Swergin did not offer any greeting but halted, grinning at Dona. His little eyes travelled over her with the same boldness that had made her shrink from him the first time they met.

"I want to talk about Father," Dona began.

Swergin's thick lips parted in a grin. "Not a word about yourself?" He seemed to enjoy the flush that rose in her cheeks.

"We'll save that for later," Dona countered swiftly. "The doctor says Dad must not be excited. We are not to tell him the details concerning this affair with Ball. We may even have to tell him that we have captured Ball."

"You mean killed him," Swergin cut in.

"You have seen the doctor?" Swergin nodded. "And if you want my idea, I think all this is a bum bet. Don't know that I'll be able to do it."

Dona flashed him a quick glance. "Why not?" She asked sharply.

"Well," Swergin seemed to be enjoying himself. "I am just a hired man. Old Asper hires me and pays me. I report to him and to no one else. I ain't got the habit of lying to my boss." The big man clamped his mouth shut and waited for this thrust to sink home.

"You must promise!" Dona softened her tone and took a step nearer the hulking boss. Her lips parted pleadingly. "For my sake as well as Dad's!"

This turn made Dudley cut in. "You'll take your orders from Miss Delo." He spoke shortly and stepped forward aggressively.

"Who asked you to but in?" Swergin growled. "You'll be lucky to keep a whole skin around you if you stay here."

"Dudley," Dona laid a hand lightly on his arm. "Let me talk to Mr. Swergin. I think I can make him understand."

"No use wastin' talk. I ain't promisin' nothing. If Asper gets me on the carpet and opens up on me I'm telling him facts and not a lot of rubbish."

"But you would lie to save his life!" Dona pleaded.

"I ain't saying; ain't making no promises," Swergin was firm.

"You certainly have changed the bold front you made when we first arrived. You were willing enough to tell Asper Delo where to step off then!" Dudley could not withhold this sarcastic trait.

Swergin did not flame up. Instead he grinned suddenly. "Old Asper was a well man then and able to take it. I ain't lying to him now that he's low."

Dona caught Dudley's arm. "Come, Dad. I have to get back to Dad." With a melting smile she faced Swergin. "You will at least promise to see me first, so that I can be there when you report to my father?"

"If you are not off chasing in the woods," Swergin grunted.

"When do you expect to report to-day?"

"I'm going out with two picked men and we figure to bring that pup in in a canvass tarp. We ought to be back by six tonight, if not sooner." Swergin squinted at the sun as he spoke and started off toward the corrals.

"If you don't need me I believe

I'll ride out myself," Dudley said slowly.

"Still working on your secret clues?" Dona smiled.

"I've got well enough along and may surprise you any hour. Dudley was serious.

"Haven't you forgotten something?" The girl's tone was teasing.

Dudley met her eyes and his lips parted in a grin. "Will you marry me this morning, Miss? If you will I can put off my plans for a few hours." He stepped close to her.

Dona laughed and fled toward the steps. "I couldn't break in on such important business!" Her eyes softened and her lips suddenly drew together firmly. "Dad, please be careful."

Dudley stood still, uncertain whether to leap after her and take her in his arms or to go on down to the corrals. The moment's delay decided the question in favour of the corrals. Dona was up the steps and inside the door. She waved him a goodbye kiss and was gone.

Dudley walked slowly down the pathway. He was torn between two courses of action. He wanted to go back and he wanted to go on. Had he known it, Dona's words had seemed more tender than her heart dictated. She was planning, guided by a woman's instinct, against a great need she feared might soon arise. Swergin's obstinate actions made her fear that she might have to ask a lot of Dudley Winters.

She paused at her father's door and looked inside. He was lying just as she had left him, his eyes half-closed and his strong mouth a little slack. Dona hurried to her own room and began rummaging through her travelling case. From among a jumble of silk and lace garments she found a paper. It was the marriage certificate Sam Dean had made out and signed. She tucked it into the front of her dress. It felt cold and stiff against her soft skin and a little shiver ran down her spine as she faced the door.

Asper showed a great deal of improvement that day. When he awakened for his medicine at four o'clock he was in high spirits. Dona felt relieved and busied herself about the room until he ordered her outside for a breath of fresh air.

"Get outside, young lady, and soak up a little pine and pitch balm and don't be treating me like an old woman with the lumbago. I feel fit as a cougar right now," he rumbled.

"You'll promise you won't try to get up?" Dona asked the question in the manner of an order.

"Feel too lazy," Asper grunted and lay back among the pillows.

Dona wandered down to the corrals where she found Malloy sitting on the top pole with his long legs dangling in the air. She greeted him with a smile and rested her arms on the fence. She was just tall enough to rest her chin easily on one shapely arm.

"How is my room?" she asked.

"He'll be needin' a stiff workout pretty soon. He's feelin' his oats," Malloy grinned.

"He'll get it about tomorrow morning," Dona promised. "And don't you dare ride him before I get down here."

"No danger. I don't hanker after that kind of treatment right after breakfast," Malloy pulled up a booted foot and dug his heel into the soft wood of the top pole. "That critter seems to miss you."

"Swergin will be in with Ball tonight and then I can ride without everyone in camp trailing me." Dona whistled softly to the roan, standing in a shady corner of the corral. The big fellow lifted his head and his nostrils quivered in answer.

"Don't plan too much on them birds bringin' Ball in," Malloy drawled softly.

"You seem to think that murderer can't be taken." Dona's tone held an edge.

"Not alive!" Malloy returned frankly. "Ball has turned out to be a bit of a killer and he ain't the kind to be taken by no timber punks with rifles. Ball uses a six gun and means 'em close in."

"I'm expecting him in with Swergin and his men," Dona repeated as though to reassure herself. She half-turned and instantly whirled to run up the path. Two men were riding down to the corrals while Swergin was mounting the steps of the main building. Dona was sure (Continued on Page 15.)

Communists were active in Holland—and so were police—as Queen Wilhelmina opened the Dutch Parliament at the Hague. Wielding a sword the officer shown in this unusual action picture has just struck down one of the agitators who attempted to stage a demonstration in the streets. Many were injured in the riot.

Miss Leonora Brooks, eldest daughter of Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, the Rajah of Sarawak, who is engaged to be married to Max Auznit, a Rumanian millionaire. Miss Brooks and her fiancé are in London.

These pictures, rushed by aeroplane from Porto Rico, give an idea of the havoc wrought by the hurricane that ripped through San Juan, inflicting millions of dollars worth of damage, killing more than 200 persons. At left is shown a crumpled steel radio mast. At right is a section of the wreckage strewn waterfront.

SECOND DOUBLE MURDER.

RIVAL SMUGGLER'S DEATH FEUD

Bound hand and foot and tied together with a length of rope, the bodies of two Chinese were found floating in the harbour on Saturday morning. This is the second double murder in two days and is believed to be the outcome of a gang feud.

On Thursday night, two junks loaded with contraband sugar, rode at anchor in Cheung Sha Wan Bay, waiting for daylight before sailing to Chinese territory. At 11 p.m. a public motor boat glided alongside, and six Chinese, masquerading as Customs officers, came on board. They demanded to see the master's licence, after which they bound the crew of eight and towed the junk away.

"We are taking you to a European Customs officer" the leader told the helpless men.

Unobserved by the bogus customs officers, six of the crew freed themselves and plunged into the harbour. As soon as they reached the shore they informed the police and a search for the motor boat was instituted.

Bodies Discovered.
The next development was Saturday's gruesome discovery of two bodies in the harbour. They were those of Ah Yiu and Wong Chi Yung, the chief smuggler and his assistant. The two junks were found floating in the harbour.

Investigations have led the police to believe that the murder is the outcome of a feud between rival gangs. Early arrests are expected.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

THEATRES

Her reputation as a toe, ballet, eccentric and ballroom dancer brought Marian Nixon to San Francisco. But curiosity took her to Hollywood. There she was seen by a motion picture director who, impressed by her beauty and charm, induced her to accept a small role in a silent picture. When the production was finished, her few flashes stood out so prominently that she was given a better role in another picture. One of her first roles was with Mary Pickford in "Rosita," but her real debut was made in "Kentucky Days" opposite Dustin Farnum. Her performance in this picture won a contract with Fox Films and she played roles in several of Tom Mix's pictures. Her first starring picture was "Spangles." She enacts the leading feminine role in "Charlie Chan's Chance," the Fox mystery drama, showing now at the King's Theatre. Warner Oland portrays the title role and the supporting cast includes such well-known favorites as Alexander Kirkland, H. B. Warner, Linda Watkins, James Todd, James Kirkwood, Ralph Morgan and Charles McNaughton.

Fashion in Gangland.

Margot Grahame, as the gangster's cutie, once more sports her favourite magpie modes in "Innocents of Chicago," the B.I.P. gangster burlesque, directed by Lupino Lane, and showing at the Queen's Theatre from Thursday. One close fitting theatre gown of white satin has graduated godets of black velvet inset to form a very full skirt and train heavily bordered with black fox—the wide cuffs following a similar trend. A large fox collar completes this magnificent ensemble. Margot's fair beauty is further enhanced by an evening dress of daring design, in black and white satin. The backless bodice of black, held in place by narrow silver straps, merges into a fish shaped train lined with white satin, intricately studded with diamonds, as is the white panel which forms the front of the gown. The vivacious vamp, Bonnie Barnes, as the rival gangster's daughter, is adorable in a slinky black velvet gown of caterpillar design, the backless bodice of which boasts the new brace effect and shoulder epaulettes. Magnificent diamond earrings and pendant of barbaric design further enhance this gown which is worn a beautiful cloak of summer ermine. Besides these two sophisticated young women Betty Norton, as the snappy little newspaper reporter, imparts a piquant air of simplicity to her pear grey outfit which consists of a crisp, chic line of military aspect, with upstanding collar, shoulder cape and innumerable buttons, and a matching velvet coat with collar and shoulder cape of squirrel.

"Carnival."

"Carnival," one of the most outstanding English pictures of the year, and the first of the British and Dominions new releases, opened at the Central Theatre yesterday. So infrequently has such a delightful production been seen on the screen, that it is well advisable for all to see. They will enjoy the delights of a glittering spectacular production. The main features of this unusual film are the melodramatic sequences which have been deftly woven with rhythmic music, played by a fine band, into some of the most colourful and artistic scenes which have yet been seen. There is a glamorous difference about "Carnival," the sound film adaptation of the famous stage play, that lifts it well above the average. Gorgeously mounted, beautifully acted and produced, it certainly deserves the praise showered upon it when at the Tivoli, London, where by the way, it broke box-office records. The Venetian scenes, are superlatively lovely, and Herbert Wilcox, the director, has brilliantly succeeded in imbuing the spirit of carnival throughout the film. Matheson Lang has his original role, in which he is magnificent, and Dorothy Boucher proves a lovely and talented actress.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Lessons in fashion begin early for the modern miss. Smartly dressed for school, the young lady at the left wears a double-breasted sport jacket of African brown self felt, and the one to the right a Robin Hood model of pine needle green. Chic and practical is the plaid skirt. Both girls have bags and berets of matching felt.

BEAUTY HINTS.

Facial Masks are Rejuvenating.

Every once in a while there is an occasion when you want to be particularly enchanting. It doesn't matter how beguiling your frock may be, how good the orchestra is, or anything else, if you can't face the party with a skin that sparkles, eyes that dance as gaily as your feet are going to, and lips that are a laughing red line. So often such engagements follow days that have been filled with routine tasks that have taken your strength. You just know that they have written themselves all across your face and that your muscles are sagging in the way that your spirits are. When such a time comes you will be surprised at the rejuvenating power of certain facial masks that have been appearing on the market. Of course you must show around until you find the one best suited to your individual needs. But there is one, just making its debut, that has a habit of rubbing out wrinkles as though they never were there, and making you completely forget to go to the rouge pot.

Simple to Apply

This special mask is a lovely, cooling paste that is quite simple to apply. Before using it, wash your face thoroughly. Remember always that this is the first step in any beauty treatment. Cleanliness is just as closely related to charm as it is to any other virtue. Now take a hot cloth and let it rest on your face for a few seconds. It opens the pores and makes them ready to receive the charm secrets that are coming.

You may use either a small brush or your middle or index finger to apply the cream. Fingers are more flexible than brushes as a rule. After your face has been thoroughly covered with the cream lie down. Relax. Forget the world. Don't even let the haunting strains of the orchestra that is going to play come stealing in. Sleep if you can.

In fifteen minutes you may remove the facial contour or mask. If you want to leave it on a little while longer it is perfectly harmless, but your effect may be gained in a quarter of an hour. Bathed the face with tonic water to remove the mask. Then splash cold water on your face.

The increased muscle tension tends to tighten the contour of the face and the wrinkles also do a welcome fade out. This particular mask has a delightful hangover effect. Its rejuvenating effect doesn't disappear. It lingers for several days.

A good nourishing cream is always helpful after the application of any mask. Be sure that you dry the face first.—ALICIA HART.

COAXING APPETITES

When children refuse to eat their cereal, try the plan of serving a white cereal in a flat soup plate, and making a face in the mixture. Dates make excellent eyes and noses. A row of small red candies form an attractive mouth. Eating them becomes a game to the children.

FASHION NOTES.

Practical Clothes.

To make successful clothes, it is essential to have the collaboration of the women who are to wear them, and no woman to-day will accept exaggerated fashions.

There is, therefore, no doubt that women have themselves to thank for the phase of practical clothes which is now in vogue. Their refusal to wear the "period fashions" of last season was a distinct blow to those dressmakers who had made such a feature of them. More than one designer found her collection left on her hands, simply because women could not be bothered to button themselves into tight frocks which fasten down the back or wear bustle-effects which look like rags after they are worn once.

This season there are two silhouettes. Both are slender, for we have not yet arrived at the time when dressmakers will give their authority for women to be indulgent about their food.

One seems slightly top-heavy, for the broad shoulder effect accentuated the waistline with the slim skirt which fits over the hips and widens nearer the hem. The other is slightly looser, suggesting that the reign of the fitting line is coming to an end.

Blue is the one outstanding colour this season. Paris is very keen about blue. It is to be seen in dark shades and in pastel colours. But there are well-known dressmakers who are pinning their faith to vivid colours. Therefore, women will be able to wear pretty much what they like so long as it suits them.

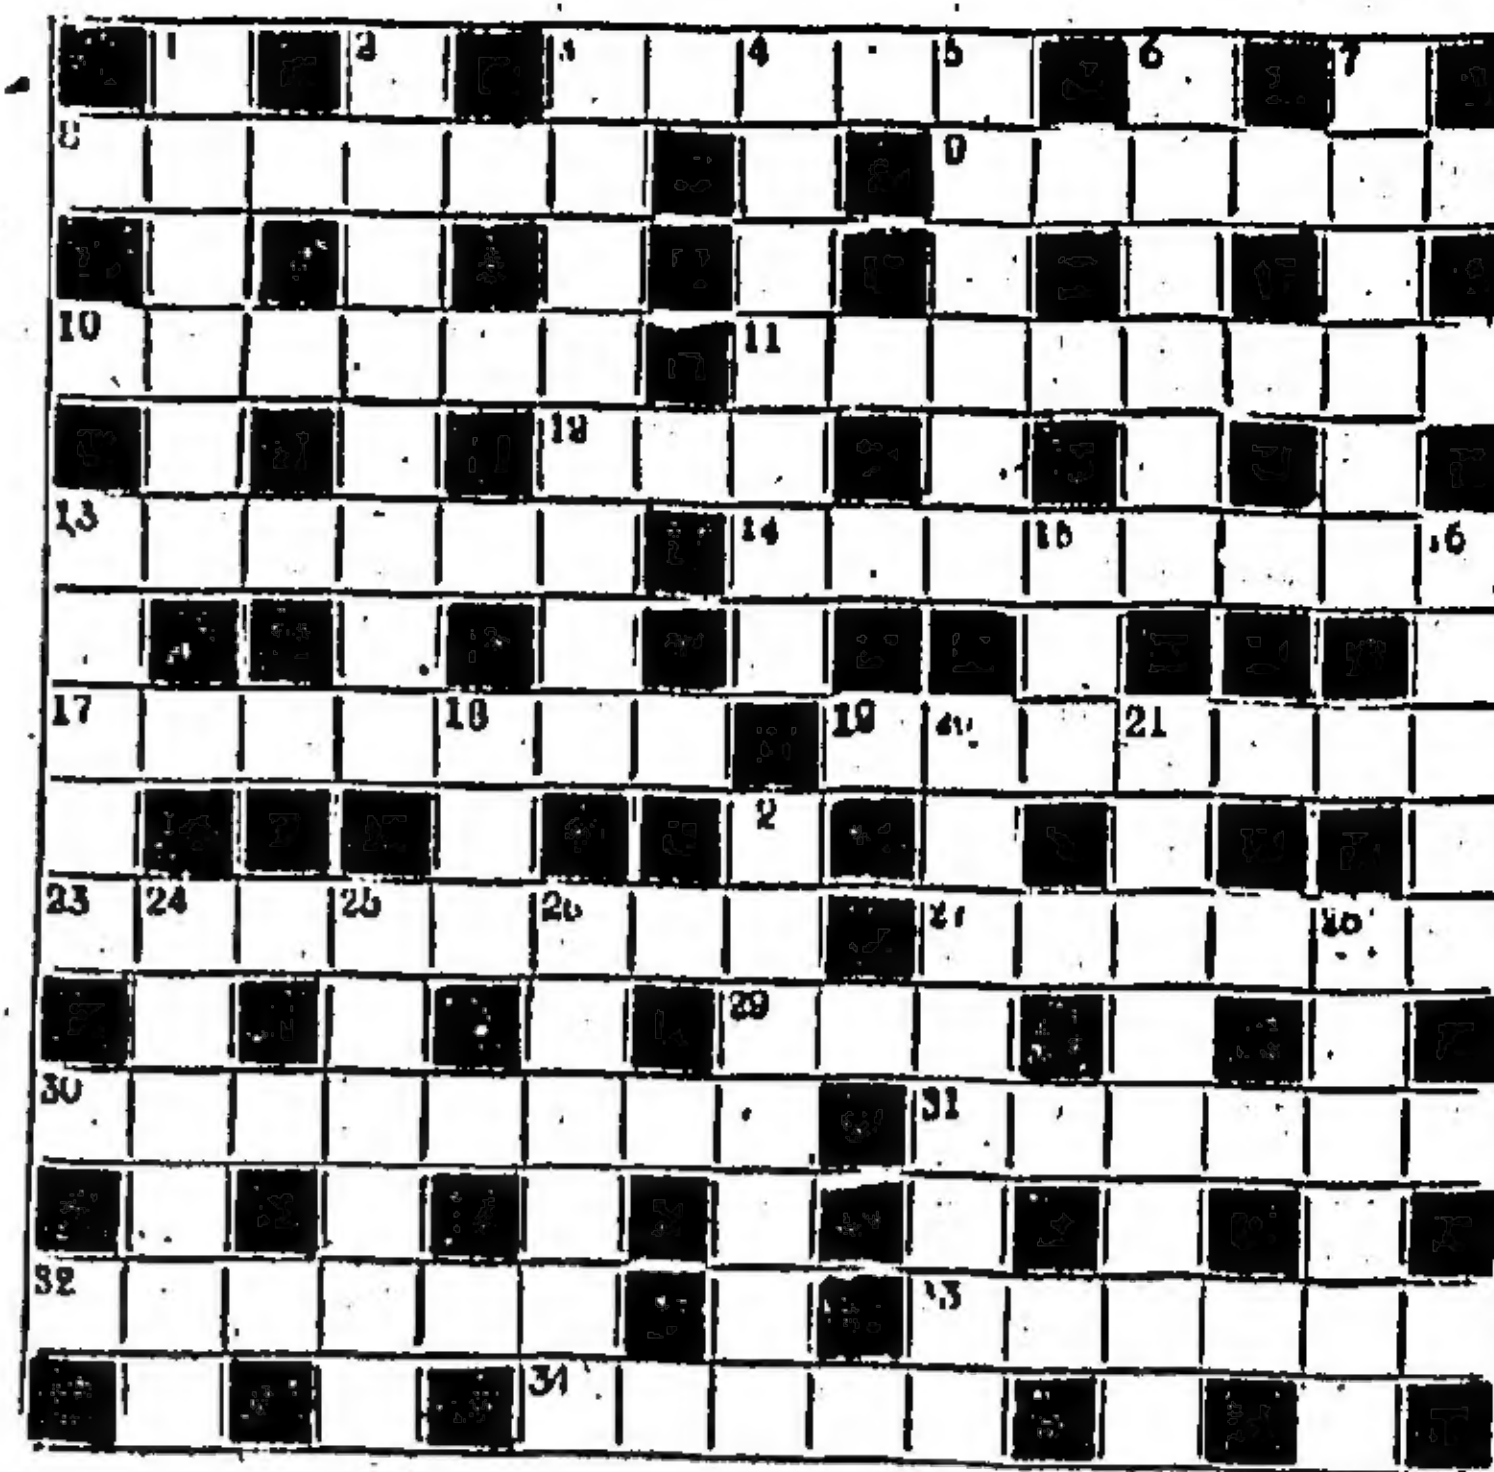

STAR NECKLACES.

Glass necklaces have recently become very popular, and all sorts of new shapes and colours are being evolved. Some of the newest glass necklaces consist of a string of large stars of transparent coloured glass, in the centre of each star is placed a tiny diamond bead, providing the characteristic sparkle.

Estelle Taylor, former wife of Jack Dempsey and one of the best-dressed women in the movies, is shown here in the magnificent white evening wrap in which she attended a recent opening.

AMERICA VOTES TO-MORROW

To-morrow is presidential election day in the United States, and on the votes cast will depend who is to be the nation's Chief Executive for the next four years. If present indications, as revealed in straw votes, are a safe guide, President Hoover has little chance of being re-elected. Almost everywhere it is conceded that Mr. Franklin Roosevelt has the better chance. The main issue is undoubtedly the current depression and its offshoots, though tariff policies and Prohibition figure prominently as well. There is no question that the Democrats blame the Hoover regime for the depression in the United States, but the Republican answer is that the crisis is not peculiar to America—that it is worldwide and therefore cannot be attributed to President Hoover's policies. However, when times are bad it is the custom in all countries to blame the Government in power, and America is no exception to the rule. Thus, on the principle that a change of party cannot make things worse than they are, many voters who would ordinarily not change their allegiance may be expected to switch from Republican to Democrat—in sufficient numbers probably to secure the return of Mr. Roosevelt.

Turning from the prospects of the poll, it will be interesting to see precisely how the United States elects its President—a subject on which there is much confusion in foreign countries. Actually, when the American voters go to the poll they do not in name vote for the presidential candidate. What they do is to vote for a number of "Electors" who have been pledged by their party affiliations to vote for their nominees. Coming down to details, the voters in every State are offered, on election day, a choice between lists of candidates for presidential Electors nominated by the various parties. The candidates, if chosen, vote for the nominees of their party. If, for example, the Democratic list of Electors wins in New York State, even by a small majority, the entire electoral vote of that State goes to the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. This would mean that all the Republican voters in the State have thrown away their votes for a list of Electors not chosen, who cannot have any part in the election of the President. It should be explained that there are as many electoral votes in each individual State as that State has Senators and Representatives in Congress. Thus a bare majority cast by the voters for a given list of Electors throws the entire electoral vote of the State to the candidates to whom the Electors are pledged. It is this which makes it possible for a President to be elected who actually receives a minority of the total popular vote of the entire country. What counts is not the majority popular vote, but a majority of the Electoral votes.

To summarise the position, the Electoral College comprises State Electors, each State having the same number of Electors as it has representatives in both houses of Congress—the Senate and the House of Representatives. This totals 531. Therefore the Electoral College has 531 votes to cast for President and Vice-President. A majority of one is sufficient to elect—therefore, 266 Electoral votes are required. If the system seems confused or indirect it is because the framers of the Constitution did not wish to entrust the average voter with the choice of a President. Political experience had taught them to be careful in their distribution of power, and even today, with vastly changed conditions, much of that distrust still remains.

Mr. Hoover's Accusers

President Hoover complains bitterly of the slanders directed against him by the Democratic campaigners and to a large extent he is justified. He has been depicted as a monster sitting at the White House through the misfortunes of the United States without lifting a hand to improve conditions. It is even suggested that but for the attitude of Mr. Hoover there would have been no worldwide depression. His own repudiation of the insupportable charges needs no endorsement. The truth, however, was stated by Newton Baker in his speech at the Metropolitan Opera House. The President has followed neither a policy of internationalism, nor a policy of isolation. In the result, he has fallen between two stools. It is probably correct to say that he did more than any other individual to relieve the sufferings of European peoples, and it is hardly to be supposed that the same man remained callously indifferent to the trials of Americans. The very real emotion which the President has showed in his denunciations of the falsehoods uttered about him is the mood which those who are most about him know best. No man has pondered more deeply the methods to be adopted to secure the restoration of prosperity and happiness. It is wholly within the limits of proper political discussion to question the efficacy of those remedies, but it is utterly beyond the boundaries of decency or of reason to charge the President either with indifference to the problem or with making its solution secondary to his political ambitions. The aspersions may defeat the purpose for which they are made, arousing in the mind of a certain section of the electorate a sympathy rather than an opposition. But the result will probably be the same. The pendulum has swung too heavily to recover in time for to-morrow's vital choice.

In reporting Friday's session of the Licensing Board, the remark was attributed to Mr. R. H. King, Deputy Inspector General of Police, that five full licences were regarded as sufficient for Kowloon. What Mr. King said was that the policy in Hongkong had been to restrict the number of full licences and five had been regarded as sufficient for the whole of the Central District in Victoria. There were already four full licences in the near vicinity of Hankow Road and there was no need for more full licences in that neighbourhood.

The Central Theatre was well patronised yesterday for the first showings of the British and Dominion's film "Carnival," starring Matheson Lang. From the technical point of view, the production is good, although the action is slowed up considerably by a deal of needless repetition. Matheson Lang stands out head and shoulders above the rest of the cast for his remarkably fine acting. Dorothy Boucher has the feminine lead and apart from a tendency to be somewhat explosive in the more dramatic points, which may be due in part to defective production, she is extremely good. Opinions will differ about this film, but it is certainly good entertainment.

"But, mother, I want to stay home. You know I can't stand any of your people."

STARVING IN A LAND OF PLENTY

By PETER BROWN.

"The world is getting richer and richer, and it remains only to devise a monetary system capable of utilising that growing wealth."—Lord Melchett.

WHAT is wealth? Surround yourself with stacks of gleaming gold and await starvation as cheerfully as you can.

Provide yourself with food for a year, and you'll live for a year.

Equip yourself with food for a year, a fertile bit of ground and the means to till it, and you're on velvet.

Productive capacity is the only real wealth.

The world is capable of producing more than ever before and is therefore wealthier than ever.

The increase in real wealth has, in fact, been so stupendous that, if it had been exploited rationally, this world would long ago have become a paradise for every civilised human being—a paradise consisting of a useful occupation, a sufficiency of the necessities and comforts of life, and adequate leisure for the improvement of body and mind.

There is no need to go to Moscow to make this paradise a reality. All that is necessary is emancipation from the bondage of an imperfect system of exchange of commodities.

Coffee is being dumped in the sea in Brazil, wheat is being fired in locomotives in Canada, in every country there are swarms of able workers eating their hearts out in enforced idleness.

What is at the root of all this senseless waste? The answer is, quite simply, that the facilities for exchanging goods (the world's currency) are tied down to a stationary quantity like gold instead of being kept in line with trading needs.

All currency must have a definite backing in gold; it is tied hand-and-foot to gold; it cannot be increased except in the ratio of the additional gold produced. Each year a minute quantity of gold is laboriously mined from the earth; each year, therefore, a minute amount of additional currency is made available.

During the past hundred years or so the capacity for producing useful commodities has increased many thousand-fold. This immeasurable increase in productive capacity has, however, been stifled, because no means of exchanging additional quantities of goods has been made available—because the media of exchange are made entirely dependent on the increase in the stocks of the commodity that is hardest and slowest of all to produce.

What Use is Gold?

To what use is gold put when it has been obtained? It is successively exchanged for useful commodities. It cannot create anything whatsoever itself.

A piece of paper with an honest signature would fulfil the identical purpose just as well. And the number of these honest promises to give real value for real value would not be held down artificially; as the capacity for producing useful commodities increases, the number of these absolutely sound media of exchange could be increased correspondingly.

There is no mystery about the broad basis of finance. When the British farmer buys an ounce of tobacco he gives the planter in Virginia a turnip or two in exchange. The function of finance is to facilitate this exchange, enabling innumerable others to participate in multifarious ways immediately in the process.

The present working of finance is so faulty, however, that we are approaching the stage when the farmer will have to appear in person before the Virginian, turnips in hand, if he wants a smoke.

Barter is a cumbersome procedure. Apart from its unwieldiness, it has the following outstanding disadvantage: It cuts out all the intermediate activities which finance makes possible, depriving innumerable worthy people of a livelihood—a highly useful livelihood, adding incalculably to the amenities enjoyed by the community and the individual.

There is, fortunately, an alternative to the baleful prospect of primitive bartering.

This alternative holds out the brightest prospect ever offered to humanity, the inauguration of an era of unparalleled prosperity. A simple operation only is necessary—a twofold expansion of the media of exchange.

The first phase consists of a substantial and proportionate increase of the domestic currency note issue in every country, to bring to life the dormant producing and consuming capacity within the countries. Each £ sterling will still have the same value as before in dollars, francs, marks, etc.

The second phase is the crediting of an adequate number of international units of value to each country.

Apply these additional issues of currency rationally, and there will be a tremendous increase in the consumption of commodities without any appreciable increase in prices. An increase in the number of monetary "counters" in existence will not mean any reduction in the buying power of each individual counter until either (or both) of two factors makes itself felt:—

(a) When demand balances and exceeds supply;

(b) When production costs are increased.

The former of these two contingencies cannot set in for some time, as it is being continually dinned into us that the world is suffering from what is termed "over-production."

As regards the second contingency, any rise in the cost of producing commodities is unlikely, if the additional currency is applied to useful public purposes in which labour at present rates of wages is the chief item of expenditure.

When a reduction in the value of the individual monetary units takes place, this reduction will be gradual, and very small in proportion to the extra amount of currency brought into use.

Widespread Benefits.

Let us endeavour to visualise a few of the effects of proportional expansion of currency: No dilution of existing values. All idle labour quickly and usefully absorbed. Trade and industry booming. Calls for private capital for every purpose. Private investors sure of a safe and profitable return on their savings, which need no longer be left to swell the deposits in the banks.

Every country stands to gain by the scheme. Proportional expansion of currency is the sure stop-gap-stone to prosperity and security.

Let us now turn for a moment from this alluring prospect to what is actually happening to-day. It is depressing in the extreme. "Cut down" is the universal watchword.

An (artificially) impoverished community is faced with the task of maintaining an enormous number of able men and women deprived of work by the fetters of contraction. The calls on the national purse for this purpose have mounted until they have become a serious drag upon industry, yet a substantial reduction of taxation is beyond the bounds of probability.

The issue is plain, and needs but few words. Expansion will unfailingly give us prosperity and happiness.

GOOSEBERRIES— BUT NO FOOLS

By ST. VINCENT TROUBRIDGE.

Chaperons are back in fashion again—yet no girl need be a penny the worse for that. Two or three years ago it certainly looked as if these Victorian idols had been toppled off their little gilt chairs round the ballroom for ever. A debutante would have felt as ashamed to bring a chaperon to a party as to bring a shiny nose.

The famous revolt of youth has died down a bit since then, possibly (Continued on Page 4.)

HELPING POOR OF HONGKONG

GOOD WORK DONE BY LOCAL SOCIETY

Striking evidence of the work done for the poor of the Colony is contained in the annual report of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which in holding its annual street sale of roses on December 1st and its annual fete on December 4th.

It is disclosed that relief in money and provisions for the nine months ended September, 1932, was $5,767.00 as against $5,360.00 for the same period in 1931. The Society has also during the nine months expended $154.80 in providing shoes and clothing for poor children, and $62.65 for medical aid. The above sum of $5,767.00 was expended in the maintenance of 147 families, comprising 208 persons, to whom assistance was given irrespective of race, nationality or creed. During the period under review 1,285 visits were made to the poor in their homes.

HOUSING.

As recorded in the last annual report, the general trade depression and the consequent increase in the number of unemployed, have caused the Society no little anxiety in the matter of the housing of the poor. The expenditure under this head during the whole of 1930 amounted to $1,974.80. This increased to $2,030.84 for 1931, while for the nine months January to September, 1932, the disbursement was $1,721.71.

Of this sum, $75.55 represents grants made to assist distressed families under duress for rent. Passengers for European and Other Destinations from outside the Colony. The Society has again had to deal with several cases of this nature. The expenditure for the nine months ended September, 1932, on passages provided was $90.00. In this connexion the Society is grateful to some of the Shipping Companies for reduction in fares.

EDUCATION.

It is the policy of the Society to afford as good an education to the children of the poor as funds permit. To ensure this there is an Education Sub-Committee, whose chief duties are to examine and sign the weekly reports of the students, to look after their moral and intellectual improvement and to provide them with clothes, shoes, books, stationery, etc., when required. Out of 160 children whose parents are the Society's beneficiaries, 105 are receiving an English education at the expenses of the Society at St. Joseph's College, La Salle College, St. Mary's School, Italian Convent & St. Francis School, or are attending the Society's Vernacular School, the Knifing School at Wan-chai.

Besides providing education for these children, the Society is also maintaining a destitute orphan girl at the Italian Convent, Caine Road, and 2 boys at St. Louis Industrial School, West Point. The Society is grateful for the reduced charges made by these schools.

Under the head of education, the Society's expenditure during the nine months ended 30th September, 1932, was $3,395.79. Of this sum $568.29 was for books, stationery and ferry fares. This expense is a heavy drain on the Society's resources, which depend entirely on the uncertain results of each annual bazaar. Considering the good work done by the Society, the Council hopes that the public will respond sympathetically to its appeal for donations. The total expenditure on education in 1931 was $4,204.75 an increase of $288.79.

CHRISTMAS GRANTS.

The disbursement on this account in 1931 was $1,018.00. The following are the particulars of the grants made—Home for the Aged Poor, $200; Blind Home, Shaukiwan, $50; Foundling Home, West Point, $25; Home of the Blind and Crippled, Hung Hom, $25; Orphans of St. Louis Industrial School, $50; Deformed and Crippled at Lo Calvaire, $100; the Poor under the Wanchai Conference, $242; Kowloon Conference, $214; and the Cathedral Conference, $112.

PLOT UNEARTHED FOR DESTRUCTION OF HANKOW BUILDINGS

Shanghai, Nov. 6. A serious plot aiming at the destruction of the Government offices, bank and power stations has been nipped in the bud by the arrest of 32 Communists, according to Japanese reports from Hankow.

Those arrested, who were taken into custody following a search after the proclamation of martial law, were found to be in possession of powerful bombs. They were arrested in three hotels in the native city.—Reuter.

REVOLVER USED TO INTIMIDATE

MAN ADMITS CHARGE OF POSSESSION

In a raid carried out by a party of police at 22, Pokfulam Road on Saturday morning, four Chinese were arrested on a charge of being in possession of an automatic revolver which was loaded with nine rounds. As a sequel, the men were brought before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court, when three were discharged and the other pleaded guilty.

Detective Sergeant D. Fitches informed his Worship that the revolver was found on a bed on which the four men had been lying. It was under the first defendant (the man who pleaded guilty) and appeared to have been discarded by him when the police entered.

The police had information that the revolver had been used to demand money and intimidate people, while one of the men pointed out two bullet marks on a wall at the rear where the weapon had been tested in preparation to its being used in some unlawful undertaking.

The first defendant was remanded for 48 hours for further enquiries into his character, while the other three were discharged.

ANTI-GAMBLING ORDER

CANTON WARNS GOVT. EMPLOYEES

Canton, Nov. 5. Gambling and other vices should not in any circumstances be indulged by Government officials and employees on pain of severe penalty, according to an order of the South-West Political Council.

In these days of national crisis and external danger, officials are expected to preserve all their energy and spirit to grapple with the situation, and to indulge in a life of dissipation would undermine Government efficiency, the order said.

Gendarmes and police will comb the restaurants, hotels and clubs and will arrest Government employees if they are found spending time in such harmful pastime.—Central Press.

A FATAL SIGNAL.

EXECUTION OF STATION MASTER AT MOSCOW

Moscow, Nov. 5. The death sentence on Bukalov, the station-master, held responsible for the recent railway disaster, has been carried out. The disaster occurred on October 16 and the news was for many days suppressed. The information got abroad through a passenger who escaped. In the smash, caused by a collision of a passenger express with a shunting engine, resulted in the death of 90 people and injuries to 300 others. The station master, signalman and three other officials were arrested and tried at the Assizes.—Reuter.

READY FOR RIOTS

SHANGHAI AUTHORITIES TAKE PRECAUTIONS

Shanghai, Nov. 6. Owing to the fact that to-morrow is the anniversary of the Russian revolution, special precautionary measures have been taken by the Chinese and foreign authorities to prevent possible disorders in Shanghai. Martial law will be declared in the native city where all assemblies, meetings and demonstrations will be rigorously banned.—Reuter's Special.

DRIZZLE OR MIST

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone over N. China continues to increase in intensity. The depression is situated in the Sea of Japan to the south-east of Hokkaido. Fresh to strong monsoon will prevail along the China coast and over the Northern China Sea. Local forecast:—N.E. winds, fresh to strong; cloudy, drizzle or mist.

Whist Mrs. H. W. Pomeroy, of 23, Yuk San Street, Happy Valley, was shopping with her twelve-year-old daughter in Lyndhurst Terrace yesterday morning, the little girl had a gold chain snatched from her neck by a Chinese who made good his escape. The article was valued at $14.

U.S. ELECTION

MR. HOOVER'S RECORD DENOUNCED

Brooklyn, N.Y. Nov. 5. The prediction that a Democratic victory would be heard of on all sides on Tuesday was made by Mr. Roosevelt at a huge Democratic rally attended by Mr. Al. Smith and other Tammany leaders, who denounced Mr. Hoover and his administration as "distinguished by destruction and delay, deceit and despair."

Mr. Roosevelt offered no Utopia and no gospel, fear or panic but a practical commonsense Democratic platform.—Reuter.

Mr. Hoover's Reply.

St. Louis, Nov. 5. In a 10,000-word broadcast, Mr. Hoover accused the Democrats of conducting a campaign of avoidance based on false premises, employing the deliberate misrepresentation and colossal falsehood that the Republicans were responsible for the world economic catastrophe.

"They express no gratitude that in my manufacture of this world crisis I let the United States off easier than Russia, Western Europe, and South America."

He blamed the Great War, its aftermath of War Debts and the liquidation of war inflation, and the necessity to maintain a larger army and navy to protect the country in a greatly disturbed world. He said that if the Democrats wished to find solutions for the guidance of the American people they should not ignore these burdens nor the effect on the world. America included, of two enormous blotting out of lives in the World War, the fabulous waste of property, fabulous increase of debts and armaments and the continued friction and hate that had arisen among foreign nations out of harsh treaties.—Reuter.

Mr. Coolidge to Help.

Chicago, Nov. 5. The Republican campaign headquarters announce that former President Coolidge will join Mr. Hoover in a final appeal to the electorate over the radio on the eve of the election.—Reuter.

EXPLORATION MEDAL.

MEMBERS OF EXPEDITION TO ARCTIC HONOURED

London, Nov. 5. His Majesty the King has approved the conferring of a medal in silver with a clasp inscribed "Arctic 1930-1931" on 14 members of the British Arctic Route Expedition. A posthumous award to the late Mr. H. G. Wilkins, the brilliant young leader of the expedition, who was drowned through the overturning of his Eskimo canoe, is included.

The purpose of the expedition was to explore the Arctic ice cap in Greenland with the view to establishing an all-British air route across the Arctic to Canada.—British Wireless.

SHANTUNG DISPUTE.

Peking, Nov. 5. According to a Chinese despatch from Tsinan the withdrawal of Han Fu-chu's troops cannot be completed before the 8th. inst. While Chang Hsueh-liang's Marines are taking over Chefoo to-day from Han Fu-chu's men, who are expected to withdraw immediately. General Han's forces surrounding Cheelow and Yang are not likely to complete evacuation to the west of the Wei river before the 11th. at the earliest.—Reuter.

Among the passengers on board the P. & O. liner Rajputana which sailed on Saturday were Mrs. G. R. Sayer, accompanied by her two daughters, Engineer Captain H. B. Sears, D.S.O., R.N., and Engineer Captain R. G. Morton, R.N..

A charge against Capt. H. S. Loud, of the a.s. Tolshan, for having worked cargo on Sunday, October 30, was dismissed by the Hon. Comdr. Hole, at the Marine Court this morning, owing to the prosecuting officer, Sergeant Dixie, failing to be present. Mr. F. H. Losby appeared on behalf of the Captain, and entered a plea of not guilty.

A history of saloon and Prohibition days, of the causes for and against the passing of the Volstead Act, is given in "The Wet Parade," which some may regard as propaganda, but which formed capital entertainment when screened for the first time at the Queen's Theatre yesterday. Of the big array of well-known actors, Lewis Stone and Walter Huston are outstanding by their accomplished performances. There are breaks in the sequence here and there, but these can be forgiven in view of the obvious pains bestowed by the producers to make it a "memorable" topical production.

FOOTBALL TRAGEDY.

Naval Man Suddenly Drops Dead at Happy Valley.

FRIENDLY GAME MARRED.

Tragedy marred a friendly football match which was being played by two naval teams inside the Valley on Saturday afternoon when one of the players suddenly collapsed and died before he could be removed to Hospital.

The unfortunate incident occurred in full view of a large number of people. Stoker Petty Officer William R. Fowler, of H.M.S. Hermes, was playing together with a party of naval ratings from local warships about 4 p.m. and when he suddenly collapsed his comrade, rendered every assistance while a European doctor who was handy also attended the unfortunate man, but he passed away almost immediately afterwards.

In reporting the tragic incident Pay Lieut. C. F. J. Younger of H.M.S. Hermes, informed the Police that the doctor who attended P. O. Fowler had not yet been traced, and was unknown to the authorities.

HEAVY HOCKEY SCORING

SEVEN FOR ST. ANDREWS

MAMAK SHIELD GAMES

(By "Daily-Or")

Twenty-eight goals were scored in the Mamak Tournament matches held during the week-end, the best aggregate being noted by St. Andrews who defeated the K.T.C. to the tune of 7-0.

Lack of stamina was the prime factor responsible for the defeat of the University by the Radio Sports Club at Caroline Hill yesterday. Although they were the first to score they failed to hold the opposing forwards. In the second half the Radio had everything their own way and scored four goals, bringing their total to five for the match.

The first half saw the "Varsity" continually on the attack and Aziz netted for them from a melee in front of goal. Avatar Singh, however, brought the score level a few minutes before the interval with a shot which gave the "Varsity" keeper no chance.

In the second half the Radio added four more, G. Singh being responsible for three and Kalwan Singh the fourth.

SAINTS RUN RIOT

St. Andrews gained another two points in the tournament yesterday afternoon when they defeated Kowloon Indians to the tune of seven goals to nil, four being netted in the first half and three in the second. A.E.P. Guest found the net three times and E.C. and E.P. Fincher scored twice each.

POINTS FROM SATURDAY GAMES.

RADIO HARD PRESSED.

By the odd goal in five the Radio Sports Club defeated H.M.S. Phoenix at Caroline Hill on Saturday in one of the fastest games seen on that ground for some time. The Radio took the lead in the first half through Avatar Singh and increased it soon after the interval when G. Singh added their second. The Naval men drew level and just before the end G. Singh gave the Radio the odd goal victory. The referee for H.M.S. Phoenix was Barnett.

EASY FOR INCOGS.

The Incognitos gained an convincing victory over H.M.S. Veteran on the Naval ground on Saturday, winning by five clear goals.

The Veteran defended strongly in the first half, only allowing one goal to be scored through R. C. Lead. In the second part of the game they went to pieces and the Incognitos netted four more, E. V. Barrow scoring twice and A. P. Souza and Francis once.

Lynn, between the sticks for the Veteran, played a remarkably good game. Lack of combination between the forwards was responsible for their defeat.

MEDWAY CONTINUE.

The Medway continued in their winning vein on Saturday when they gained another five goals victory against the German Club at Caroline Hill. The Navy men kept the Club on the defensive throughout and though the German forwards put up a plucky resistance they were unable to hold the attacks of the Medway. Allen and Haggard scored two goals each and Lewis one.

FRIENDLY MATCHES.

The Army went under to the Jats by two goals to one in a trial match on the U.S.R.C. ground on Saturday. A notable absentee from the Jats side was Habib, and his position on the right wing was taken by a reserve who had the misfortune to get hit in the mouth by the ball. His injury necessitated medical aid before he could resume.

At halftime the Jats lead by the only goal scored, netted by Jalil. In the second Macfarlane brought the scores level before Jalil gave his side the lead and victory.

For the Army Macfarlane led the forward line well, while Crosswell at centre-half and Pole played excellent defensive games.

LADIES' TUSSELE.
Another low scoring game was that between the Hong Kong Ladies and the Club de Recreio Ladies at Sookampoo which was won by the former by the odd goal in three.

ARSENAL'S TALL SCORING

London, Nov. 5.
J. Lambert was re-instated in the centre forward position for the Arsenal in their match against Wolverhampton at Molineux grounds on Saturday, and scored two of the seven goals. D. S. N. Jack netted three and C. S. Bastin the other two goals.

Chelsea, without the services of H. Gallacher, who will not play for some time, were not impressive against Birmingham, although they won by four goals to two, at Stamford Bridge.

Everton were behind until the last ten minutes in their match against Newcastle at St. James' Park, but they managed to win their first away match of the season by staging a magnificent rally.

S. Rutherford, a reserve, scored the "hat trick" for Portsmouth against West Bromwich Albion at Fratton Park. Our Own Correspondent.

BRYANT SCORES THRICE

R.A.'S WORTHY VICTORY

(By "Veritas").

R. A. (Bryant 3)
Lincoln (Harding, Kirkham) 2

The Royal Artillery, the "dark horse" of the League, were full value for their victory over the Lincolns by the odd goal in five at Sookampoo on Saturday, and any other result would have been an injustice to them.

I hold this opinion despite the fact that they were a goal in arrears at the interval and that Bryant's first point in reply was from an obvious offside position.

The Gunners may not have been quite so pretty in their work, but they were magnificent spoilers and adopted go-ahead tactics which made them as dangerous as the Lincolns before goal.

The brilliant leadership of Bryant, the clever play of Seal on the left wing, and the soundness of Allen at right back were the three chief factors in the success of the Artillery.

But the team as a whole played with vim and determination which spell success. They were, man to man, a far faster team than the Lincolns, and their ball distribution, and although there was a lot of aimless kicking, there were also several bright spots of good football featured by intelligent passing and neat ball control.

IMPOTENT BALDRY.

Allen's remarkable display was sufficient to complete the good spoiling work of Fardoe and his immediate colleagues. The right back, aided by Collier, reduced Baldry, the Lincolns' star outside left to impotence. Furthermore Allen scored rounds of applause for his daring interceptions and splendid covering of Taylor, who was inclined to lose his head under pressure.

Pardee stuck grimly to Higgins and crowded some effective defensive work with clever passes which more than once left the Lincoln rearguard spreadeagled.

Bryant, apart from achieving the distinction of netting three goals, two of which were masterly efforts in shooting, was a constant worry to Turner and Hackett, whilst Dudley, at centre half, never obtained full measure of the fast-moving gunner.

Seal at outside left gave him admirable support, maddening the ball with splendid judgment and accuracy. Although somewhat barren in tricks and the very often subdued when he had to make ground for himself, Seal, when on the run, was the most dangerous attacker on the field. In his eagerness to get the ball across to his colleague, however, he missed more than one opportunity of cutting in and testing Heath for himself.

Wood and Gough were not so prominent on the other side of the field, chiefly because they did not see so much of the ball. Gough finished weakly and in the closing minutes missed an open goal.

HALF BACK WEAKNESS.

The Lincolns, whilst admittedly fielding three reserves, were very disappointing, and fell away badly after a promising start. The rush tactics of the opposition seemed to upset their ideas of pattern weaving, and in playing the Gunners at their own game they were a bad second.

Half back weakness, the defence susceptible to the wit of the opposition, and the ineptitude of Higgins and his colleagues up forward to make use of opportunities spoilt an inevitable result.

The Lincolns appear to have lost confidence in themselves as a result of their reverse against St. Joseph's a fortnight ago, and a big improvement in every department will, have to be shown if they are to avoid further defeats.

There is tons of good football in the team, but Higgins is not a good leader of the forwards, being too impetuous in shooting. The complete subjugation of Baldry on Saturday did a lot to rob the line of its power as an attacking unit.

GREAT START.

The "Greens" started off in great style, Harding heading through in the first five minutes, but the Artillery were on level terms almost from the kick-off, Bryant making use of a forward pass to beat Heath. From the stand Bryant appeared yards offside when he received the ball, but the referee allowed him to go on.

The exchanges lived up after this, with the Artillery always exerting gradual pressure which began to tell its tale. However, the Lincolns went ahead again when Taylor handed in the "area," and Kirkham scored with a perfect shot, and they enjoyed this lead at the interval.

The Gunners fairly took command of the game after the re-start and were always predominant. The "quelling" goal took some time to come, but when it did it was a beauty. Bryant taking a pass on the run and netting in the corner with a great shot from on the penalty line.

His third goal was even more spectacular, when the centre-forward turned sharply and with a right footed hook sent the ball high into the corner of the net from 15 yards range.

BLAKE SHINES FOR KOWLOON

CAPITAL WIN OVER THE NAVY

By "Wanderer"

Kowloon 3 Royal Navy 0

Kowloon displayed genuinely improved form and were well worth the full margin of their victory over the Navy, whose forwards were painfully weak in front of goal. On paper, the Navy team was the strongest they have fielded this season, but as a side, they failed badly. Kowloon never permitted them to get into their stride and poor understanding in defence caused them to be pre-empted on half a dozen occasions.

The most astonishing feature of the game was the failure of Shiras. At no time did this tall and usually brilliant centre-half do justice to himself. He could not hold Nelson and his distribution of the ball, his special forte, was woefully ineffective. Then again Blake and Bickford on the Kowloon left wing were far too good for Robinson and Hall, and Hall's partner was inconsistent, hence the complete failure of the Navy. Their defenders were lost and lost, as the game went on, able to render their forwards any assistance, and the Navy's efforts grew more and more ragged.

By comparison, Kowloon looked a really good side, probably better than they are. Masterly play by the half-backs formed the foundation for sound team work, and if Hill had been on the right wing in the place of Nicholls, Kowloon would probably have piled up another big score.

RISE OF BLAKE.
The rise of Blake was the most satisfactory feature from Kowloon's viewpoint. This young player gave his best display of the season, com-binning splendidly with Bickford and using the ball with much more intelligence than hitherto. Speedy and thrustful, he scored a brilliant goal when the first half was ten minutes old, giving Kowloon no chance with a swift drive, after resisting Hall's challenge.

This was really the turning point of the game. Up to that stage, the Navy defenders had been playing with a certain amount of confidence. With a goal against them, they cracked up and within a few minutes, Kowloon were two up, though it was a lull in the play for a moment when the Navy went in, when it might just as easily have been the clean sort of goal one prefers.

The Navy were dangerous for a spell of ten minutes in the second half, before Kowloon had settled down to the complete co-operation in defence which marked their first half display. As soon as the vigour of the attack had worn off, and the shooting was so poor that Gurevitch was never troubled during this period, Kowloon were again dominant and remained so until the end.

DEFENCE SPREAD EAGLED.
The left wing pulled the whole Navy defence out of position for Melens to score easily after a quarter of an hour and a few minutes later, Webb was presented with a backing from Cornack, who had a had day indeed against the close deadly tackling of Wells.

Bliss took the honours in a splendidly efficient Kowloon half-back line, whilst McKelvie in rapidly developing the third back game (the modern job of the centre-half) to perfection.

OLDE ENGLISH
FAIRE.COLOURFUL FUNCTION AT
ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The happy atmosphere of Morris England pervaded the grounds of St. Andrew's Church at Kowloon on Saturday on the occasion of the Olde English Faire, held for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the recently installed electric fans and to meet obligations in connection with Church extension work.

The grounds were ablaze with colour. Bunting of every hue, the colourful old-time costumes of the helpers, the inevitable gaily decked Maypole on the Village Green, the old English dances, an old English cottage, and the numerous booths all lent to the creation of the traditional faire, while during the evening one was transported back into the present when coloured electric lights, hung from every conceivable vantage point, were switched on.

The opening ceremony was performed by Mrs. J. R. Wood, wife of the Pulpit Judge, who was met at the entrance by the Vicar, the Rev. W. W. Rogers, in the dress of an old English country gentleman, and Messrs. J. H. Hunt, R. Dormer, J. W. Baldwin and R. Baldwin, attired in Boeaters' costume. Headed by the Town Crier (Mr. L. D. Skinner) the party proceeded to the "Village Green" where Mr. P. S. Cassidy, who presided, said there was always something typically English about St. Andrew's and all connected with it. They resembled very much an English parish and possessed that team spirit which was much to be envied. Under the leadership of the Vicar they had been able to carry through many successful enterprises and he congratulated them.

Mrs. Wood then declared the Faire open and was thanked by the vicar, who remarked that they had received a great deal of encouragement from the Homeland. He also extended the thanks of the Committee to all who had helped.

Mr. Cassidy was thanked on the motion of Mr. J. W. Baldwin, and Mrs. Wood was presented with an old English poy by little Edith Hoare.

Pretty Folk Dances.

After the opening speeches had been delivered, old English folk dances were presented on the Village Green and received prolonged applause. They included the Maypole dance, an early Victorian Gavotte, and a country dance, "Newcastle," all of which were executed by girls of the Diocesan Girls' School under the skilled direction of Miss W. Henderson.

At intervals during the afternoon, the "Strolling Players," Messrs. S. A. Sweet, R. Woolley, J. W. Baldwin, H. Kow, E. H. P. White and R. Baldwin, presented a brief, but laughter-packed scene—young Pyramus and his love, Thisbe.

At 8 o'clock, the Young People's Service presented the well-known story-play, "Alice in Wonderland," under the direction of Mrs. Langley, assisted by Mrs. Thomas and the Misses M. Rice and I. Woolley.

Side Shows and Stalls.

Numerous side-shows which included the Ducking Stool for saucy spouses, Hoop-la—as played by His Majesty King Henry VIII of blessed memory, Miss White's lucky dip, fishing pool, the killing of Guy Fawkes, cocker-nut shelling, the Nobility, a shooting gallery, ye olde English game of Skee-ball, gold-fish throw and the skittle alley of ancient fame, were under the direction of Mr. Jeffreys, assisted by Messrs. E. F. Selk and R. Dormer.

The arrangements were made by an executive committee comprising

Rev. W. W. Rogers vicar and chairman; Mr. F. W. Dunn secretary; Mr. J. W. Baldwin treasurer; Mrs. W. W. Rogers, Mrs. C. E. Elliot-Haywood, Mrs. J. H. Hunt, Mrs. J. P. Robinson, Miss W. A. Robinson, Mrs. R. Baldwin, Miss M. Woolley, Mr. R. Baldwin, Mr. G. B. Labrum, Mr. J. H. Hunt, Mr. S. A. Sweet, Mr. W. H. Robinson, Rev. N. V. Halward, and Mr. E. F. Finch.

The stalls situated around the grounds were: Fancy Goods—Mothers' Union, Leader Mrs. J. W. Baldwin; "Dollery"—Women's Section of the Y.M.C.A.,—Leader Mrs. Hunt; Home-made provisions—Leaders Mrs. Laurensen and Mrs. Cole; Flowers, fruit and vegetables—Leaders Mrs. and Miss Robinson; Empire—Leader Mrs. C. E. Elliot-Haywood; Children's toys—V. D. M. A. (Cathedral Branch); Lavender—Leader Mrs. Macaskill; Books—From the British and Foreign Bible Society by the courtesy of Rev. Frank Short; Sweets and cigarettes—Diocesan Girls' School.

Novelties and useful articles by the members of the Children's Service were on sale at a special stall. Here also were Christmas cards, designed by Rev. E. A. Armstrong, Messrs. Felshaw, Sweet and Woolley. Mr. and Mrs. Rose sold second-hand books, and ice-creams were on sale from a stall run by the St. Peter's Branch of V.D.M.A., and while home-made ginger beer and brandy snaps were dispensed from the Olde English Cottage by Mrs. Rupert Baldwin and her helpers.

Lavender girls were much in evidence, while the Gipsy palmarist and soothsayer, "Cassandra" was kept busy.

The Faire closed with a fancy dress carnival dance at the Church hall at which Mr. E. F. Finch was M. C. Music was supplied by means of a gramophone lent by Messrs. Rudolf, Wolff and Kew, the records for which were supplied by the courtesy of Messrs. Tang Fook.

The proceeds amounted to over $3,000.

LABOUR PROBLEM

VOLUNTARY EFFORTS
PRAISED.

London, Nov. 5.
Many private members as well as members of the Government and leaders of the Opposition contributed to the first stage of the three days debate on unemployment yesterday.

The purpose of the discussion was to pool ideas in a non-partisan spirit for the solution of unemployment difficulties. Many references were made last night to the excellent voluntary efforts undertaken by civil and national organisations for providing useful occupations and healthy recreation for men without employment, and suggestions were made for their development.

The Minister of Labour, Sir Henry Ketterson, confirmed the forecast of the improved statistics, details of which will be available in the returns issued on Monday night.—British Wireless.

Unemployed Marchers

London, Nov. 5.
The remainder of the 2,000 unemployed marchers who came to London to hold demonstration meetings ten days ago, left for their homes to-day by train. Others returned earlier by motor coach. Railway companies had undertaken to transport them at exceptionally low fares of three miles for a penny.

The marchers expressed their appreciation of this generous offer and pointed out that the fact that only a handful of their number had been charged as result of disorders in London show that they had not come for violent or illegal purposes.

The general impression is that their march was manipulated by a few hot-heads desiring to create disorder and that the demonstrations gave the opportunity for rowdy metropolitan elements to cause trouble.—British Wireless.

You will lose your teeth!
through Neglect
PYORRHEA'S attack is invisible

THE ugly mouth disease, Pyorrhea, can lurk for 10 years, unnoticed. It is an invisible enemy which attacks the gums. But only later makes itself known in many horrible ways. Its first warning may be your tooth brush—just a bit pink from bleeding gums. Then the gums get soft, spongy, tender. Next the teeth loosen in their sockets and what may happen then, worst of all, the teeth drop out, or have to be pulled out!

The price you pay for neglect, is the dreaded disease, pyorrhea, and all of its attending ills.

Loss of teeth often leads to general bad health and loss of vitality. Your healthy smile disappears and with it, popularity and admiration . . . and your friends!

You don't have to risk this! Start now. Save your teeth. Use Forhan's for the Gums. More than an ordinary tooth paste, it prevents pyorrhea. It will keep your gums healthy, your teeth beautifully white, and sound. Remember, there is no substitute for fine, healthy teeth and the smile of youth and no finer dentifrice than Forhan's for the Gums.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Astringent developed by Dr. Forhan and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

WHY NOT HAVE THAT EXTRA THIRD?

CHINA REALTY COMPANY 8% DEBENTURES
8% INTEREST VS 6% INTEREST
MEANS ONE THIRD MORE INCOME

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders Meeting, February 29th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working. I think we have amply proven that we were right that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interest. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

COMPARISON

Mortgage Department, 1930-1931

1930	10,052,040	¥18,662,000	54%	9.18%	1.215%	¥118,614	¥122,316
1931	19,194,867	34,075,666	56%	9.33%	0.765%	255,291	146,825
						¥373,905	¥269,141

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—¥643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930 ¥ 6,532,660.00
1931 ¥13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to ¥146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with ¥5,000,000 capital.

The natural laws of economics require an investor to secure the best return especially upon savings—trust funds—consistent with safety.

The China Realty Company is one of the oldest (established more than 20 years) real estate companies in Shanghai with a steady successful record back of it.

Capital ¥5,000,000 fully paid in cash.

Business turnover 1931, ¥45,632,300 in and mortgages only, which does not include management of estates, rent collections, insurance written, trustees for beneficial owners of property and sundry sources of income.

The Company are Realtors, not speculators in Real Estate.

The balance sheet as of December 31, 1931 shows:—

Assets ¥12,341,726.31
Land and Buildings at cost 3,351,055.84
Cash 1,844,259.11

Mortgages on Real Estate held by Company Dec. 31, 1931 ¥5,971,209
Total Debenture issue Dec. 31, 1931 4,840,700 by which it will be noted that all of the proceeds from Debentures are invested in Mortgages and ¥1,131,500 of the Company's capital.

In the past twenty years the Company has negotiated more than one hundred million Taels in mortgages, all of which has been repaid, principal with interest.

LOCAL BANKRUPTS

KNOTTY PROBLEM BEFORE COURT ON SATURDAY

At the Bankruptcy Court on Saturday morning, before the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, when the case for the hearing of the petition by Messrs. Bradley and Co., Ltd., for the adjudication in bankruptcy of the Mal Wah Co., of 35, Wing On Street, Victoria, came before the court, Mr. H. Macnamara, instructed by Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, submitted that in view of the fact that the petitioning creditors had failed to state in their petition that they held a security the petition was void.

He submitted that was a vital mistake as the creditors in question had a security. The truth of the matter was that the people responsible for drawing up the petition had only claimed for unliquidated damages. He quoted numerous authorities in support of his contention.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon, instructed by Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master, appearing for the petitioning creditors, contended that the creditors were, in order, as also did Mr. E. L. Agassiz, the Official Receiver. The latter stated that the security was valueless because it was not sufficient security for the selling price of the goods in question.

His Lordship, after hearing the pros and cons reserved his decision. Opposition to the petition of Mario Rocha, clerk at the Navy, Army and Air Force Institute, who resides at 67, Whitfield Road, Causeway Bay, was made by the Official Receiver, Mr. E. L. Agassiz, on the grounds that the offer of $75 a month was insufficient.

Mr. P. C. E. Rendall, Messrs. Russ and Co., appeared for debtor, who stated that he filed his petition on October 8th and at that time his liabilities were approximately $3,820 and the majority of his creditors were Indian money lenders. He had no assets beyond $350 his salary and $120 received from his daughters per month. He offered to pay $75 per month.

The Official Receiver: I am opposing this petition on the ground that the monthly instalments are too small. Debtor was questioned at length regarding his estimated expenditure of $389.60 by the Official Receiver.

His Lordship: It seems to me that the estimate of expenses has been put too high.

A receiving order was made, debtor to contribute $90 a month. Application for adjudication by Carlos Victor Castro, clerk, of 14, Caroline Road, was granted. Mr. E. L. Agassiz, Official Receiver, stating that the adjudication was opposed by the creditors on the grounds that debtor was not contributing enough. The monthly instalments had been increased from $20 to $25 and the Official Receiver, though that was sufficient. The liabilities totalled $7,285.93.

GERMAN POLITICS

RADICALS BLOCK CITY'S TRAMWAY SYSTEM

Berlin, Nov. 6. Apart from a limited tram service under police protection, the city is without means of transport this morning. Communists and other extremists during the night filled up the tram-lines with cement and threw barricades up in many places in the suburbs. Flying squads of armed police are dashing round the city, prepared for trouble, but up to now there has been no disorder. Attempts of the extremists to persuade other workers to join a general strike have so far proved unsuccessful. Two more Communist papers have been suppressed but the strike threat excitement is overshadowed by the election in Berlin where decreased polls are likely if the stoppage continues in the transport service.—Reuter.

Nazi-Communist Clash

Berlin, Nov. 6. Election Day opened dull and rainy with only a few trams running, so a heavy poll is likely. Polling opened at 9 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. The final result is not likely to be known until early Monday morning.

So far everything is peaceful throughout the country except a Nazi-Communist collision at Essen where shots were fired and stones thrown. A Nazi was severely injured.

There were the usual election scenes in Berlin with a representative of each party bearing an election poster outside the polling station, generally a tavern. Nazis were in uniform in the streets and the working class districts were full of party placards, mostly Communist. Police patrolled the streets and processions and meetings were prohibited.

Only 25 to 30 per cent. of the electorate had voted by noon, including President Hindenburg, who voted at 9.15 a.m. for the German Nationals at a small cafe near his residence. He was cheered by the crowd on his departure.

Her von Papen and other ministers also voted in the morning. The morning's front page appeals to the electorate to vote en masse for parties. The Right journals proclaim that only von Papen can save Germany from ruin and the left urge Germany to become a democratic state as "Government Barons" are useless.—Reuter.

Planes Keep Watch.

Berlin, Nov. 6. At 2.30 p.m. it was estimated that 48 per cent. had so far voted. All was quiet.

Two police planes kept flying over the city ready to warn headquarters by wireless in the event of a disturbance. The few buses that appeared on the streets were heavily guarded by police.—Reuter.

LOCAL WEDDINGS

WELL-KNOWN CRICKETER MARRIED

Mr. Cyril Edwin Gahagan, the local cricketer, was married on Saturday afternoon at St. John's Cathedral to Miss Eileen Barbara Medina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Medina. Mr. Gahagan, who is on the staff of the Hongkong Electric Company, is the son of the late Mr. E. G. Gahagan and Mrs. Gahagan.

The Very Rev. Dean Alfred Swann was the officiating clergyman while Mr. F. Mason played appropriate music on the organ.

Mr. S. Deacon gave away the bride, who wore a gown of ivory satin and lace with embroidered veil and Juliet cap of orange blossoms, while she carried a sheaf of white lilies. Miss Irene Deacon was bridesmaid and was attired in a gown of peach pink georgette trimmed with pale grey fox, with silver lace and sequin cap. Her bouquet was of pink gladioli.

The Matron of Honour, Mrs. Deacon, wore a jade green and beige ensemble.

The duties of best man were performed by Mr. J. Gardner. Following a reception at the Hongkong Hotel, the couple left for Fanling on their honeymoon, the bride's going away dress being a nigger brown lace and taffeta gown, with pan velvet toque.

Local Doctor Married

A pretty Chinese wedding of much local social interest was solemnised at the Registry of Marriages on Saturday when Miss Tso Wai-lu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tso Sun Kun, was married to Dr. Cheung Shu-fan, M.B., B.S., son of the late well known local merchant, Mr. Cheung Hing-tin. The bride is the niece of the Hon. Mr. S. W. Tso, while the bridegroom is a member of the staff of the Kwong Wah Hospital and is well known in medical circles.

Miss Tso Wai-lu was bridesmaid, while Mr. Eric Wong Tape was best man.

The bride wearing an exquisite dress of satin and white lace, and holding a bouquet of white daisies, was attended by her sister, a bridesmaid, whose dress was of white georgette trimmed with lace.

About four hundred guests attended the reception on the Hongkong Hotel roof garden and among those present were Sir William Hornell, Professor and Mrs. W. I. Gerrard, Dr. Arthur Woo, Dr. D. K. Samy, Dr. T. Y. Li, Mr. Chan Lim-pak and many local medical practitioners. Sir William Hornell proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Canton. A dinner party was held at the Nam

THE COTTON STRIKE.

WORK TO BE RESUMED THIS MORNING

London, Nov. 6. The dispute in the Cotton Industry in Lancashire, has come to an end and work is to be resumed on Monday morning.—Reuter.

Insufficient Majority.

London, Nov. 6. Work in the Lancashire spinning mills will be in full swing on Monday after several weeks stoppage.

The ballot of the spinners gave only a small majority to continue the strike, whereas a strike decision requires a four to one majority.

The joint committee has agreed to ratify last week's agreement for a 14 per cent reduction in wages.—Our Own Correspondent.

Daughter of Dr. B. C. Wong Married

Another fashionable Chinese wedding took place on Saturday at St. John's Church, Ho Mun Tin, when Miss Wong Lu-hing, fourth daughter of Dr. B. C. Wong, became the bride of Mr. Leung Pak-hung, son of General Leung Ling-kai, of Canton.

The Rev. Tsang Ki-ang officiated at the ceremony. Miss Lu Wai-jing was bridesmaid and Mr. Wong Pun-fong was best man.

After the wedding nearly 400 guests attended a reception given in the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel.

A dinner was given subsequently at the Tai Ming Sing Restaurant in Kowloon.

RECEPTION TO
FR. SPADAGLOWING TRIBUTES PAID TO
HIS WORK

ADDRESS PRESENTED

Rev. Fr. G. Spada was the recipient of heartfelt congratulations, and his work as a priest in the Colony for forty years eulogistically referred to at a reception given in his honour at the Club de Recreio by the Catholic community, and members of his parish, yesterday morning.

On the platform were seated the Bishop of Hongkong, the Right Rev. Mgr. H. Valtora, Mr. G. P. de Martin, Mr. J. M. Castro Basto, Mr. Leo D'Almeida e Castro, Rev. Fr. Rossi, Rev. Fr. Byrne, Rev. Fr. Novati, Mr. J. M. Noronha, Mr. F. H. Barnes, Mr. E. V. M. R. de Souza, Rev. Fr. Burns and Fathers from the French Mission.

His Grace the Bishop addressing the gathering commented in glowing terms on the work done by Fr. Spada during his forty years in Hongkong, after which Mr. J. M. Castro Basto read an illuminated address, the contents of which were as follows:

Very Reverend Father Spada, "On behalf of your parishioners, the Roman Catholic community of Kowloon, I have much pleasure in welcoming you here to-day, at the same time thanking you for having accepted our invitation which enables us to express in a small way our deep appreciation of you as our parish priest and friend. "A few days ago marked the passing of your fortieth year in China, and it has been our good fortune that for the larger part of this long period your field of action has been in our midst. It is difficult adequately to express our gratitude for the manner in which you have so ably discharged your duties. You have been ever ready to sacrifice self for the good of others and your helpful counsel has guided many in their hour of need.

"The zeal that you have always shown, the kindly sympathy extended to all alike, your devotion to your duties with complete self-abnegation, have won the affection of us all. The welfare of your parish has always been your first consideration, and in this connection every task, however irksome, you have undertaken with goodwill and enthusiasm. This noble band of Brothers and attitude has encouraged all to Sisters without whose co-operation your help, in matters spiritual as well as temporal, confident to be handicapped indeed. On this in the knowledge that in your love day, Fr. Spada, your Brother for your flock they will not be denied.

"Whatever charitable works may be found amongst the Catholics of Kowloon, whatever associations exist for the quickening of their spiritual life we naturally link with your name.

"In Kowloon's early days we had no church, and through your initiative the Rosary Church was built in 1905. Since then our numbers have increased from a mere handful to thousands. Recognising the need of a rapidly growing community, it is owing to your instrumental aid again that the Church of St. Teresa is now in course of completion. It is a source of much satisfaction to us, as it must be to you, that your labours in this direction have borne fruit—and is our selfish hope that you will still be with us when this Church celebrates its jubilee.

"We have gladly joined with you this morning in giving special thanks at the Te Deum, when our prayer was that you might long be spared to us as the pastor who has won the love, gratitude and respect of all with whom he has come into contact.

"As your parishioners feel that this occasion should be marked with something a little more tangible than a mere address, I would ask you to be good enough to accept from us this souvenir, an insignificant, but a loving token of our appreciation and gratitude for all you have done and are doing for us."

Clergy's Congratulations. This was followed by the presentation of a purse by the parishioners of Fr. Spada's Church, the Rosary Church.

Rev. Fr. Byrne then addressed Fr. Spada on behalf of the Clergy, and in doing so said—

"When asked to say a few words on behalf of the Clergy, I at first demurred. Should not this privilege be the privilege of one of the priests who had shared with Fr. Spada the labours of the same working day? When it was pointed out to me that would be a delicate task for one of the immediate household of the Milan Foreign Missionary Society, so to speak, as the priestly life of Fr. Spada was the living spirit of the Society, I realised that it is often easier to watch impartially the course of a human life when one is not travelling the same bit of road, but looking on from the hill of external admiration.

"You have heard the address on behalf of the laity. It is an expression of sincere gratitude to one who, during forty years, has given himself untrillingly—(what a weight of meaning in that little adverb)—to Kowloon, not forgetting the Kowloon Residents' Association, and beyond. Gratitude is naturally the dominating thought in the mind of his fellow priests? My friends, I will tell you simply and frankly. It is envy. What you will say, envy! Envy in those whose very Gospel should efface envy!

"It is said that the poet Tennyson went 'moonlight about for days,' repeating with endless satisfaction, and expressing the wish that he had been the author of, the lines:

"You must with time decay,
—Eileen Aroon!
Beauty must fade away,
—Eileen Aroon!
Castles are sacked in war,
Chieftans are scattered far,
Truth is a fixed star,
—Eileen Aroon!"

"It is with that kind of envy that the Clergy are envious—and under the word Clergy I include goodwill and enthusiasm. This noble band of Brothers and attitude has encouraged all to Sisters without whose co-operation your help, in matters spiritual as well as temporal, confident to be handicapped indeed. On this in the knowledge that in your love day, Fr. Spada, your Brother for your flock they will not be denied.

"Whatever charitable works may be found amongst the Catholics of Kowloon, whatever associations exist for the quickening of their spiritual life we naturally link with your name.

"In Kowloon's early days we had no church, and through your initiative the Rosary Church was built in 1905. Since then our numbers have increased from a mere handful to thousands. Recognising the need of a rapidly growing community, it is owing to your instrumental aid again that the Church of St. Teresa is now in course of completion. It is a source of much satisfaction to us, as it must be to you, that your labours in this direction have borne fruit—and is our selfish hope that you will still be with us when this Church celebrates its jubilee.

"We have gladly joined with you this morning in giving special thanks at the Te Deum, when our prayer was that you might long be spared to us as the pastor who has won the love, gratitude and redened, could not but rejoice in his crown. On this day it is our privilege, not to fear, but to rejoice.

Fr. Spada's Labour of Love.

"Attention has been called to the visible works inspired by Fr. Spada: the churches which he has built, or the building of which he has stimulated; the schools which he has fathered; the Association which he has guided. If we look at brick and stone, strictly speaking we find only one church which is Fr. Spada's church, the Rosary Church. But we do not estimate the life of a priest by foundations alone laid; we estimate the value of his life by the shrines which he has consecrated to the Spirit of Love. The contrast is drawn in the prophet Argeus between what appears and what is. The magnificent Temple of Solomon had been destroyed. A new one had been built to replace it. He devoid of splendour it seemed to those who had seen the old temple in its glory, yet it was this temple that the 'Lord God of hosts was to fill with glory' because it was the Lord God Himself was to enter. I said the Rosary Church is Fr. Spada's church, but who will count the shrines that Fr. Spada has consecrated in living souls in Kowloon, in Monks? The prophet continues 'In this place I will place,' who can tell us the number of hearts that found peace in the counsel of their Pastor?"

"It has often been said as a tribute to Fr. Spada that he speaks many languages: Italian, Chinese, English, Portuguese, French, Spanish. To be a linguist is an asset to a priest: I should be inclined to say that Fr. Spada speaks one language, the language of love, and that is why all, irrespective of class, irrespective of nationality, irrespective of all external differences which make intercourse difficult, find that he speaks their language, the language of the heart, which is the language that we can all understand. It was the Master's language, it should be His Priests'. On this day we, your Brothers Priests, Fr. Spada, congratulate you on this more than anything else, and we find in the beautiful lines of Cardinal Newman the expression of our tribute:

"I know him by his head of snow,
His rosy smile, his keen full eye,
His words which kindle as they flow,
Save he be rapt in ecstasy.
He comes, by grace, of his address,
By the sweet music of his face.
And his low tones of tenderness,
To melt a noble, stubborn race."

Ad Multos Annos.

Mr. G. P. de Martin said that he did not have anything further to say to what had already been said about Fr. Spada's work, but as he counted Fr. Spada as one of his oldest friends no power on earth could stop him from taking the opportunity to extend to him heartfelt congratulations and his best wishes for still more years of useful and self-sacrificing work among his parishioners.

Fr. Spada's Thanks. In a few words Fr. Spada thanked everybody present and his parishioners for the beautiful address presented to him, and said that he had no intimation about his forty years work until he saw it in the papers, and it seemed to him that everyone knew more about his work, and found out things which he himself did not know. He thanked the congregation and parishioners for the generous way in which they helped towards the building of the church of St. Teresa, which was one of his particular desires.

The band of the Salesian Fathers was in attendance during the reception.

MILITARY BRANCH HOLD
SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION

The Military Branch of the M.C.L. held a most successful afternoon at the Helena May Institute on Friday. Thirty-three tables, supervised by Captain Barry, R.A., were occupied by contract and auction bridge, and mahjong players.

Mrs. Southern, wife of H. E. the Officer Administering the Government, very kindly presented the prizes, after a few introductory remarks by Mrs. Wood (President of the M.C.L.) who called for a vote of thanks to the organisers, Mrs. Dunsterville, (Military Representative to the M.C.L.) and to her assistants, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Fasken.

H. E. the Gen. Officer Commanding the British Troops in China, Major General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. presented a carved pink jade box as 1st prize for contract bridge, which was won by Mrs. Tratman.

Other prizes were—2nd prize, cut crystal necklace, presented by Mrs. Renshaw, won by Mrs. C. M. Hall; 1st prize, auction bridge, Peking glass bowl, presented by Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Dunsterville, won by Mrs. Mousley; 2nd prize, auction bridge, linen luncheon set, presented by Mrs. Fasken, won by Miss Stevenson; 1st prize, mahjong, 12 Peking glass cocktail goblets, presented by Mrs. Raikes and Mrs. Atkinson, won by Mrs. Baynam; 2nd prize, linen tea cloth and napkins, presented by Mrs. Myles, won by Mrs. H. Wilton; Hidden prize, painted glass bottle presented by Mrs. Wood, won by Mrs. Mayhew; Consolation prizes, won by Lady Mary Barton and Mrs. Molr, presented by Mrs. Alex. Anderson.

Many of these articles were obtained from the Jade Tree, Ltd. who were also the generous donors of a handsome opium stool, won by Mrs. Bowes Smith in the Raffle which was drawn by Mrs. Griffin. Another attraction which helped to sell many a ticket in the above was a free permanent wave, given by Madame Juliette, whose well-equipped beauty parlour in Kowloon is well known. This was won by Mrs. Barry. The other lucky ticket holders were Mrs. McClay, who got a beautiful piece of Saigon embroidery presented by Mrs. Gowan; Mrs. Chalmers, who won a water colour sketch of Hongkong painted and presented by Lady Mary Barton, and Mrs. Dunbar, who appropriately enough became the owner of the excellent study of 'horses' painted and presented by Mrs. Eve.

Through the generous support of the N.A.A.F.I. and Messrs. Lane, Crawford, the ladies who gave the home made fudge, and those who contributed to an ample tea, which was gracefully dispensed by Mesdames Shillington, Barry, the Misses Cousins, Boyd, Fullerton, Gowan, the expenses are few, and it is expected that the proceeds will exceed $500. The same young people sold cigarettes, which were generously donated by the British American Tobacco Co.

The organisers desire to express their thanks to Mrs. Southern, and to all those who co-operated with them towards the success of the afternoon.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Adam and fallen man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." (John 3: 6.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Thou spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true. Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye are from beneath: I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world." (John 8: 12-14, 23.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jehovah declared the ground was accursed; and from this ground, or matter, sprang Adam, notwithstanding God had blessed the earth 'for man's sake.' From this it follows that Adam was not the ideal man for whom the earth was blessed. The ideal man was revealed in due time, and was known as Christ, Jesus." (P. 338: 27.)

he was headed for Asper's room. She reached the steps well out of breath. Swergin had gone to his office instead of to her father's room. Dona sat down to catch her breath. She meant to stay right there until the timber boss came out.

Swergin remained in his office through the supper hour. Dona carried Asper's tray of food to him and waited while he ate but the big boss did not come out of his office. Dudley appeared, looking fresh and rested. He sat beside Asper while Dona went to snatch a bite of dinner. She was able to whisper to him to watch for Swergin as she went out.

Darkness had settled as Dona returned from the cook cabin. There was a promise of a moon in a few hours. She heard voices in her father's room and ran up the steps. Swergin was standing in the middle of the floor, his feet planted wide. On his face was a stubborn expression and his massive chin was thrust forward aggressively. Asper Deol was sitting up and he was shaking with anger.

CONVENT BAZAAR.

ITALIAN SISTERS' EFFORTS SUCCESSFULLY REWARDED

The Italian Convent, Caine Road, presented a festive appearance on Saturday and Sunday on the occasion of the annual bazaar. Coloured flags and lights adorned the entrance, and streamers of flags and palms decorated the interior of the hall.

Fifty-two Convent girls from the Senior classes formed a guard-of-honour in the corridor to Mrs. A. R. Wellington, the wife of the Hon. Dr. Wellington, who opened the bazaar by cutting with a pair of scissors the ribbons which spanned the entrance to the hall.

His Grace, the Very Rev. Mr. H. Valtorta, Bishop of Hongkong, received the honoured guest, and conducted her to the hall. Three stalls were situated at intervals along the stone steps leading to the hall, and on one of the terraces adjoining the steps the band of the Salesian Fathers rendered music.

On two sides were rows of stalls, the $1 and the $2 stalls, and the avenue formed by these stalls led to the platform on which was a special stall. Here were obtainable articles of children's clothing beautifully knitted by the Sisters and orphans of the Convent, cushions, embroideries and other work. Beautiful dolls were between the cushions and embroideries, and all formed a charming effect. Curtains, table centres, pillow centres and other useful household articles adorned the table in the centre of the platform.

The $1 and $2 stalls contained an assortment of toys, cushions, needlework, embroideries, dolls and other articles to please both children and adults, while at the entrance to the hall was a stall set apart for the work of the blind girls of the Convent. Here was to be found children's wooden wear, cleverly and beautifully knitted. The other stall at the entrance contained two large baskets from which numbers were drawn for $1 or $2 and the prizes selected from the stalls.

Down in the garden at a turning of the stone steps was a stall where Italian sweets and home-made sweets were sold, and further down another stall where games could be played for prizes. The last stall in the garden was a toy stall, and here anything could be bought for twenty cents or more.

The bazaar was open the whole of Saturday and Sunday, and was attended by a large crowd.

SOVIET FESTIVAL.

CHINESE EASTERN RAILWAY ANNIVERSARIES

Harbin, Nov. 6. According to a report published in the Russian Press, the police have informed the Soviet Consul General M. Slavutsky, that Soviet citizens may hold on November 7th, anniversary meetings of the Chinese Eastern Railway Club, the C.E.R. Mechanics Club, the C.E.R. Workers' Club, and the Theatre Atlantic.

The meeting will finish at 6 o'clock p.m. the same day. No speeches longer than 20 minutes will be permitted and there must be no propaganda and no demonstrations.

STATION RAIDED

SURPRISE ATTACK MADE BY BANDITS

Tokyo, Nov. 5. Three railway employees, including a deputy station-master, were shot to death when a party of 60 mounted Chinese bandits carried out a daring surprise attack on the important junction of Szupinghai, on the South Manchuria Railway mainline, shortly after midnight yesterday.

A goods train which was about to leave the station for Dairen narrowly escaped by putting on full speed but the station was set afire and destroyed.

Szupinghai is the junction of the branch line to Pailintala and is about 110 miles north east of Mukden.—Reuter.

GRAVE CORK RIOTS: ROWDIES ATTACK CINEMA

HOSTILE CROWDS GREET COSGRAVE

STRONG BODYGUARDS FOR PROTECTION

POLICE IN STIFF FRACAS

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Nov. 6.

Riotous scenes were witnessed in Cork yesterday afternoon when Mr. W. T. Cosgrave, President of the Free State Council in the last government, arrived to address a meeting at a local cinema.

The streets of the city were lined by thousands of people as Mr. Cosgrave drove to the place of the meeting and several demonstrations of hostility were staged at various points.

A very strong bodyguard was necessary to protect him, but he managed to reach the building in safety.

CINEMA ATTACKED.

No serious outbreak occurred until Mr. Cosgrave's journey to the cinema had been accomplished. Then organised attack was launched upon the cinema itself. Over a hundred men, armed with heavy sticks, initiating their charge with a fusillade of heavy stones, attempted to take the cinema by storm.

The police were outnumbered but they formed themselves into a square round the entrance and met the assault with their batons, a fierce scuffle ensuing.

ROWDIES ROUTED.

The police square withstood all the assaults of the de Valera rowdies and when finally it was decided to carry the war into the "enemy's camp" the attackers were routed and fled.

Both police and the attackers suffered very hard knocks in the violent affair, but no-one was seriously injured. The police made only two arrests.

DETECTIVE SLAIN

ARMED HOLD-UP OF MONEY-CHANGERS

Shanghai, Nov. 7.

An unarmed Chinese detective, a member of the Shanghai Municipal Police, was shot down and killed last night during a brave attempt to capture an armed robber.

The gangster had just held up a Chinese money-changer's establishment and had compelled the foks to hand over all notes of high denomination, and was just getting away with an extremely rich haul when the detective appeared on the scene.

Despite the fact that he was unarmed and the bandit was handling his gun menacingly, the Chinese detective grappled with the robber.

He was met with a quick fire from pointblank range and collapsed, dying before medical help was available.

By this time, however, a general alarm had been set up and the bandit was in serious danger. He turned and fled, firing at his pursuers, who included a Russian civilian named Eilers, who though unarmed, played an important part in the final capture of the murderer.—Reuter.

LATE NEWS.

RED VOTE IN BERLIN

PROPORTION OF ONE IN FOUR

HINDENBURG'S DILEMMA

THE COUNTRY AGAINST VON PAPEN

Berlin, Nov. 7.

The definite decline of Hitlerism, the advance of Bolshevism amongst the working classes, the aversion of the middle classes to Radicalism, and the opposition of the vast majority of the electorate to Chancellor von Papen, constitute the features of the election.

Nevertheless, it is a completely stalemate vote, leaving the political situation just as complicated as ever.

The von Papen Government may claim that its supporters have doubled since July 31, but it is still faced with an enormous hostile majority.

FEWER SEATS.

The country polled 79 per cent. of the total electorate, as compared with 84 per cent. in July this year, causing a diminution of the number of members of the Reichstag, giving only 582 seats as compared with 608 after the July election.

All the leaders are, of course, automatically re-elected on the Party lists.

Though abstentions may account for some portion of Herr Hitler's heavy loss of two million supporters and thirty-five seats, the Nazi percentage of the total poll has fallen from 37.4 to below 33. Hugenburg's German Nationalists and the Peoples Party, both of which support Herr von Papen, increased the total of their votes by some 700,000 and 200,000 respectively. They have about sixty seats.

COMMUNIST GAINS.

The Communists gained 700,000, chiefly at the expense of the Socialists, whose total declined by a similar number. The Centre Party's loss, some 200,000, was chiefly due to abstentions.

It is noteworthy that one person in every four in Greater Berlin voted Communist and the proportion is only slightly less for Berlin Proper.

The Nazis lost no fewer than 114,000 votes in East Prussia, hitherto a Nazi stronghold, where the German Nationalists gained 60,000.

In Mecklenburg, where a Nazi Government is in power, the Nazis and the Communists both lost twenty-five per cent. of their votes, the German Nationalists and the Peoples Party gaining heavily.

FINAL RESULT.

But the result, though interesting, does not contribute to the slightest towards a clear political

NAZIS AND SOCIALISTS PREDOMINATE

GERMAN ELECTION RESULTS

BERLIN, NOV. 7.

GERMAN'S PARLIAMENTARY DEADLOCK PERSISTS. YESTERDAY'S ELECTION HAS SOLVED NONE OF THE PROBLEMS. HERR VON PAPEN, THE CHANCELLOR, STILL FACES AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY AGAINST HIM IN THE REICHSTAG. THE NAZIS HAVE LOST HEAVILY AND THE SOCIALISTS AND CENTRE HAVE ALSO OBTAINED FEWER SEATS. THE ONLY MARKED GAINS HAVE BEEN SECURED BY THE COMMUNISTS AND HERR HUGENBURG'S GERMAN NATIONAL PARTY.

The final (provisional) figures as compared with the July elections are as follows:

NOVEMBER 6 ELECTION.	JULY 31 ELECTION.
Nazis 195	Nazis 229
Socialists 120	Socialists 133
Communists 99	Communists 89
Centre 70	Centre Party 76
German Natls 49	German Natls 37
Bav. Peoples 18	Bav. Peoples 20
German Peoples 11	German Peoples 7
Others 14	Others 11

Minor clashes were reported from various parts of the country, for example, in Bremen, where Communists and Nazis came into collision with the result that one Nazi was seriously wounded and twenty-three of the fighters were arrested. In Brunswick, the Nazis and members of the Reichsbanner clashed and some of both groups were wounded. All was peaceful in Berlin, though fifty arrests have been made for obstruction in the past twenty-four hours.

NO PRACTICAL VALUE IN CHANGES

Seventy per cent. of the electorate had, it was estimated, recorded their votes by four o'clock in the afternoon, while the general spirit was illustrated in Mecklenburg where a hundred per cent. poll was reported from seventeen villages.

In these districts, the German Nationalists scored 305 votes as compared with 232 in the July elections, while the Nazis, still leaders, polled 331 votes as compared with 393 in July. The Socialists also suffered a setback in Mecklenburg, polling 193 votes against 231 in July.

FEARS JUSTIFIED.

That the fears of the Nazis that they reached the peak of their influence over the voters in July were justified was revealed quite early in the count. When the first three million votes had been counted, at 8.40 p.m. last night, the Nazis' share was 961,000—only thirty-two per cent. of the poll as against 88 per cent. in July—while the Socialists were heavily in arrears of their last figures, securing 594,000 votes, or under 20 per cent.

A marked improvement had already shown itself in the Communist figures, 587,000 out of the first 3,000,000 votes, while the Centre Party had obtained 385,000, the German Nationalists, 293,000, the Bavarian Peoples Party, 78,000 and the German Peoples Party, 66,000.

The counting went on and by nine o'clock it was already evident that the election would again result in a Parliamentary deadlock and that in spite of the appeals on behalf of the von Papen Government, the existing German Government would be faced with an overwhelming majority against it in the new Reichstag.

At 9.45 p.m. approximately 12,900,000 votes had been counted and the percentages had revealed little important change. Of the total at this stage, the parties had obtained the following votes:

Nazis 4,224,000
Socialists 2,581,000
Communists 2,810,000
Centre 1,701,000
Nationalists 1,121,000
Bavarian Peoples 226,000
German Peoples 266,000
State Party 119,000
Social Service 142,000

Special provisions for voters travelling were made at railway stations. The above photo shows the polling booth at Berlin's main station.

HOW THE PARTIES FINALLY FARED

Rectifications of the provisional figures effect the following changes in the representation of the leading parties:—

Nazis 194
Socialists 121
Communists 100
Centre Party 70
German Nationalists 61

The respective totals of votes are also slightly modified.—Reuter.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA SUBDUED

THREE WICKETS AT COST OF 61 RUNS

Adelaide, Nov. 7.

South Australia were very subdued on resuming their innings against the M.C.C. before a crowd of about 2,000 this morning.

Larwood and his colleagues bowled brilliantly and three wickets fell before the lunch interval was taken. The only batsman to defy the England attack was Victor Richardson, the South Australian captain, who bids fair to obtain the first century scored against the tourists.

He battled with great restraint, scoring at a markedly slow pace compared with his effort on Saturday, but at lunch-time, he had reached 99, having added 27 runs to his total during the morning. Altogether, 61 runs were added and three wickets fell, the lunch position being:

M.C.C.—634 for 9 wickets (Sutcliffe 154, Leyland 127, R.E. Wyatt 68, D.R. Jardine 108 not out, Larwood 81).

South Australia.—208 for 5 wickets (K. Nitschke 69, V. Richardson 98 not out).—Reuter.

BROKE INTO GARAGE

CHINESE SENT TO PRISON

Mr. Ho Leung and Mr. Ho Ki appeared as joint complainants before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court this morning when a Chinese was charged with breaking and entering a garage at 42, Kennedy Road, with intent to commit a felony.

Detective Sergeant Carruthers said that at 2.50 p.m. yesterday Mr. Ho Leung's chauffeur noticed the garage for the car and noticed that the door was open. He saw two men inside, one of whom escaped. The defendant, however, was seized. The men had levered

FLOOD PERIL IN HARBIN

SPRING DISASTER FORECAST

HABITS OF THE SUNGARI

(Special to "Telegraph").

Harbin, Nov. 7.

If past experience is to be accepted as a reliable guide, Harbin has in prospect another flood disaster in the Spring of next year, perhaps even more serious than the catastrophe of the last summer.

The alarming view of the outlook is the result of a study of the position by river experts, based upon the habits of the Sungari River.

Past records show that almost without fail, the Sungari rises, in the early Spring, from two to three metres above the river level of the last week in October of the previous year.

HIGHER THAN IN AUGUST.

This rise, coming annually, offers no terrors as a general rule as the Sungari in late October is usually at a fairly low level. This year, however, the river although falling considerably after the August disaster, was still running remarkably high at the end of October.

From the levels taken, it is consequently easily possible that the Sungari in April next will be from 30 to 60 centimetres higher than the highest levels reached during this year's floods, in which event, Harbin would be completely inundated.—Reuter.

FORMER KING'S YACHT

FOR CHINA-MANILA SERVICE

The s.s. Apo, formerly belonging to the late King Manuel of Portugal and later the official yacht of the Governor General of the Philippines was sold last week for pesos 6,150 at a public auction held under the auspices of the United States Army to which organization it was recently returned by order of Governor General Theodore Roosevelt, as an economy measure.

Ramon Chuah Suy, Manila Chinese shipping man, made the winning bid, outbidding five others.

The historic yacht will be converted into a passenger liner and placed on service between the Philippines and South China, according to the purchaser.

S.O.S. ALARM

FUNNEL CARRIED AWAY; HOLDS FILL

(Our Own Correspondent).

London, Nov. 6.
Urgent S.O.S. signals are being sent out by the Hongkong-bound Blue Funnel liner, Phenix, which has been badly smashed up by a hurricane in the Caribbean Sea and appears to be in peril of sinking.

According to a message from Colon, Panama, the nearest vessel to the distressed ship is the British cargo steamer Ariguana, which is now rushing to the assistance of the Phenix.

A terrific storm has been raging in the Caribbean and apparently the Phenix got right in the thick of it. Her funnel was carried away during one of the fierce squalls and the raging seas have so damaged her that all four holds are filling.

NORTH OF COLON.

The Phenix has given her position as about two hundred and fifty miles to the north of Colon and the Ariguana is expected to reach her within a few hours.

Captain D. C. L. Evans is the master of the Phenix, which is on the Hongkong-New York service and left New York for Manila, Hongkong, Shanghai and Japan on October 22. She was nearing the Panama for her trans-Pacific voyage when the hurricane burst upon her.

7,000-TONS SHIP.

She is a staunch vessel of about 6,000 tons gross, built in 1921 by Scott's Shipbuilding Company of Greenock, for the Ocean Steamship Company. She is 459.1 feet long, is 59.2 feet in breadth and 32.6 feet deep.

She is primarily built for cargo-carrying, though she had limited accommodation aboard for passengers.

ARIGUANA TO RESCUE.

The Ariguana, now going to the rescue of her officers and crew, is also a large-type freighter, built for fast service. She is a vessel of 6,746 tons and is operated by Elders and Fyffes, Ltd. of Glasgow.

The Phenix' first S.O.S. message indicated that she was in grave peril. The heavy seas created by the hurricane are sweeping across her decks, and water is pouring into her through the gap left by the missing funnel.

PRAYA FRACAS TRAGEDY

ONE OF ACCUSED TO GET OFF

Notice of the withdrawal of a charge of murder against one of the men held in connexion with the recent fracas on the seafarer, was given by Mr. J. A. Fraser, assistant attorney general, at the Central Police Court this morning, when making application for a date to be fixed for the hearing.

Mr. Fraser said there was little evidence against one man and the Crown would withdraw against him. The only evidence was that he was present and involved in an assault.

Both accused, who are represented by Mr. Horace Lo, were remanded until Tuesday, November 15 for hearing.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

The hands shown in this series for days past have been selected from the national championship tournament of the American Bridge League held recently. Each hand has illustrated a clever play by one of the country's leading experts and one might gain the impression that the tournament was an unbroken succession of brilliancies.

While the standard of play was probably higher than at any contract tournament ever held, even the finest players err at times, and when they do it is apt to prove very costly.

Today's hand was played by four of the strongest players in the tournament, but courtesy forbids mentioning their names.

7-5-4 K-Q 5-4 K-J 10-6 4 A-6	NORTH L S E A S O U T H	3 None Q-9-3 2 10-9 8-5-3 A-6 A-9-7-3-2 A A-K-Q-4-2

The Bidding.

South opened with two no trump, preferring to conceal the two-suited nature of his hand, and if possible to score his 150 aces. West passed, and North bid three spades. South now believed a slam was possible and prepared for it by a psychic bid of four diamonds, hoping to prevent a lead of that suit. North bid four no trump and South jumped to six no trump, which West doubled.

The Play.

South was obviously at a bad contract for he could barely make three no trump against good defence. However, if we place ourselves in West's position, we cannot much blame him for reasoning the hand out as he did. His king of diamonds appeared to be a sure trick behind the diamond bidder and he was anxious to establish another trick in hearts immediately to make certain of defeating the contract.

Accordingly he led the king of hearts. North played low and East, having no hearts, was obliged to make a discard. He obviously could not afford to discard a spade and did not wish to weaken his diamond holding, for declarer had bid that suit. Consequently his only safe discard appeared to be a small club.

Declarer won the trick with the ace, and due to East's club discard was able to run off five club tricks immediately. He then conceded West the queen of hearts and took in the remaining tricks.

His cleverly used psychic diamond bid had deceived both opponents so completely that he was able to make six no trump doubled, on a hand which should have been defeated three tricks.

OBITUARY

WEALTHY LOCAL CHINESE MERCHANT

The funeral of the late Mr. Leung Yiu-hing, well known Chinese merchant, manager of the Wing Fat Printing Company, Hongkong, and other printing enterprises in Macao, who died some two weeks ago at his residence in Happy Valley, took place on Saturday. The long funeral procession, with foreign and Chinese bands, the picturesque representation by children of Chinese gods and the hundreds of attendants attracted much attention, when it passed the Central district at five o'clock.

The deceased was 48 and is survived by his wife, son and daughter, also a grandson and a grand-daughter.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the religious service held at the Yat Pit Ting, Kennedy Town.

The remains were interred at the Aberdeen Cemetery. Hundreds of wreaths were received, including those from prominent local residents.

CALL of the WEST

BY R. G. MONTGOMERY

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Stan Ball, an agent for cattle interests, faces Asper Delo in his office. Ball accuses Delo of having men shot who are sent out to check his timbering activities at Three Rivers. Ball says he is making a personal check. Delo says he will personally see that Ball does not make the check.

Upon leaving Delo's office, Ball saves a girl from kidnappers. She proves to be Delo's daughter, Dona. When Ball learns her name he tells her he is Stanley Black and allows away.

Dudley Winters, in love with Dona, agrees to go to Three Rivers and get Delo to come back. Dona goes with him and at their first stop Dudley produces a marriage license and urges Dona to marry him, arguing that Delo will not go on a manhunt if they do. Dona barely releases the marriage by meeting Ball on his way to Three Rivers.

At the camp, Swergin, Asper's timber boss, tries to make Dona stay in camp. She slips away from men he has ordered to watch her and hides. She sees her father attacked and shot. Swergin comes to her rescue. Dudley and Swergin both warn her not to ride alone as Ball will attack her as he has her father. Dona goes back and when she starts back, finds she is followed. Her pursuer proves to be Swergin, who takes her back to camp in spite of the fact that she accuses him across the face. Asper is much worse. The storekeeper is knocked out and his place robbed. Ball is blamed.

CHAPTER XV

Dudley did not return with Swergin for half an hour. Dona sat where she could watch her father who lay pretending to be dozing. She was sure Asper was only pretending and that behind his half-closed eyes he was planning what he would do, once he was able to be up.

Swergin appeared from the doctor's cabin with Dudley at his heels and Dona arose. She wanted to meet the timber boss far enough away from her father's room so that he could not hear what she had to say.

Swergin did not offer any greeting but halted, grinning at Dona. His little eyes travelled over her with the same boldness that had made her shrink from him the first time they met.

"I want to talk about Father," Dona began.

Swergin's thick lips parted in a grin. "Not a word about yourself?" He seemed to enjoy the flush that rose in her cheeks.

"We'll save that for later," Dona countered swiftly. "The doctor says Dad must not be excited. We are not to tell him the details concerning this affair with Ball. We may even have to tell him that we have captured Ball."

"You mean killed him," Swergin cut in.

"You have seen the doctor?" Swergin nodded. "And if you want my idea, I think all this is a bum bet. Don't know that I'll be able to do it."

Dona flushed him a quick glance. "Why not?" She asked sharply.

"Well," Swergin seemed to be enjoying himself. "I am just a hired man. Old Asper hires me and pays me. I report to him and to no one else. I ain't got the habit of lying to my boss." The big man clamped his mouth shut and waited for this thrust to sink home.

"You must promise!" Dona softened her tone and took a step nearer the hulking boss. Her lips parted pleadingly. "For my sake as well as Dad's!"

This turn made Dudley cut in. "You'll take your orders from Miss Delo." He spoke shortly and stepped forward aggressively.

"Who asked you to but in?" Swergin growled. "You'll be lucky to keep a whole skin around you if you stay here."

"Dudley," Dona laid a hand lightly on his arm, "let me talk to Mr. Swergin. I think I can make him understand."

"No use wastin' talk. I ain't promisin' nothing. If Asper gets me on the carpet and opens up on me I'm telling him facts and not a lot of rubbish."

"But you would lie to save his life!" Dona pleaded.

"I ain't sayin' ain't making no promises," Swergin was firm. "You certainly have changed the bold front you made when we first arrived. You were willing enough to tell Asper Delo where to step off then!" Dudley could not withhold his sarcastic grin.

Swergin did not flame up. Instead he grinned suddenly. "Old Asper was a well man then and able to take it. I ain't lying to him now that he's low."

Dona caught Dudley's arm. "Come, Dad. I have to get back to Dad." With a melting smile she faced Swergin. "You will at least promise to see me first, so that I can be there when you report to my father?"

"If you are not off chasing in the woods," Swergin granted.

"When do you expect to report to-day?"

"I'm going out with two picked men and we figure to bring that pup in a canvass tarp. We ought to be back by six tonight, if not sooner." Swergin squinted at the sun as he spoke and started off toward the corral.

"If you don't need me I believe

I'll ride out myself," Dudley said slowly.

"Still working on your secret clues?" Dona smiled.

"I've got well enough along and may surprise you any hour. Dudley was serious.

"Haven't you forgotten something?" The girl's tone was teasing.

Dudley met her eyes and his lips parted in a grin. "Will you marry me this morning, Miss? If you will I can put off my plans for a few hours." He stepped close to her.

Dona laughed and fled toward the steps. "I couldn't break in on such important business!" Her eyes softened and her lips suddenly drew together firmly. "Dad, please be careful."

Dudley stood still, uncertain whether to leap after her and take her in his arms or to go on down to the corral. The moment's delay decided the question in favour of the corral. Dona was up the steps and inside the door. She waved him a goodbye kiss and was gone.

Dudley walked slowly down the pathway. He was torn between two courses of action. He wanted to go back and he wanted to go on. Had he known it, Dona's words had seemed more tender than her heart dictated. She was planning, guided by a woman's instinct, against a great need she feared might soon arise. Swergin's obstinate actions made her fear that she might have to ask a lot of Dudley Winters.

She paused at her father's door and looked inside. He was lying just as she had left him, his eyes half-closed and his strong mouth a little slack. Dona hurried to her own room and began rummaging through her travelling case. From among a jumble of silk and lace garments she found a paper. It was the marriage certificate Sam Dean had made, out and signed. She tucked it into the front of her dress.

It felt cold and stiff against her soft skin and a little shiver ran down her spine as she faced the door.

Asper showed a great deal of improvement that day. When he awakened for his medicine at four o'clock he was in high spirits. Dona felt relieved and busied herself about the room until he ordered her outside for a breath of fresh air.

"Get outside, young lady, and soak up a little pine and pitch balsam and don't be treating me like an old woman with the lumbago. I feel fit as a cougar right now," he rumbled.

"You'll promise you won't try to get up?" Dona asked the question in the manner of an order.

"Feel too lazy," Asper grunted and lay back among the pillows.

Dona wandered down to the corral where she found Malloy sitting on the top pole with his long legs dangling in the air. She greeted him with a smile and rested her arms on the fence. She was just tall enough to rest her chin easily on one shapely arm.

"How is my roan?" she asked.

"He'll be needin' a stiff workout pretty soon. He's feelin' his oats," Malloy grinned.

"He'll get it about tomorrow morning," Dona promised. "And don't you dare ride him before I get down here."

"No danger. I don't hanker after that kind of treatment right after breakfast," Malloy pulled up a booted foot and dug his heel into the soft wood of the top pole. "That critter seems to miss you."

"Swergin will be in with Ball tonight and then I can ride without everyone in camp trailing me." Dona whistled softly to the roan, standing in a shady corner of the corral. The big fellow lifted his head and his nostrils quivered in answer.

"Don't plan too much on them birds bringin' Ball in," Malloy drawled softly.

"You seem to think that murderer can't be taken," Dona's tone held an edge.

"Not alive!" Malloy returned frankly. "Ball has turned out to be a bit of a killer and he ain't the kind to be taken by no timber punks with rifles. Ball uses a six gun and meets 'em close in."

"I'm expecting him in with Swergin and his men," Dona repeated as though to reassure herself. She half-turned and instantly whistled to run up the path. Two men were riding down to the corral while Swergin was mounting the steps of the main building. Dona was sure

With a quarter of a million persons homeless by the hurricane that swept over Porto Rico, scenes like this are common in the devastated area. As soon as the storm had passed, with its toll of 212 dead and 200 injured, relief agencies opened emergency camps to supply food and shelter.

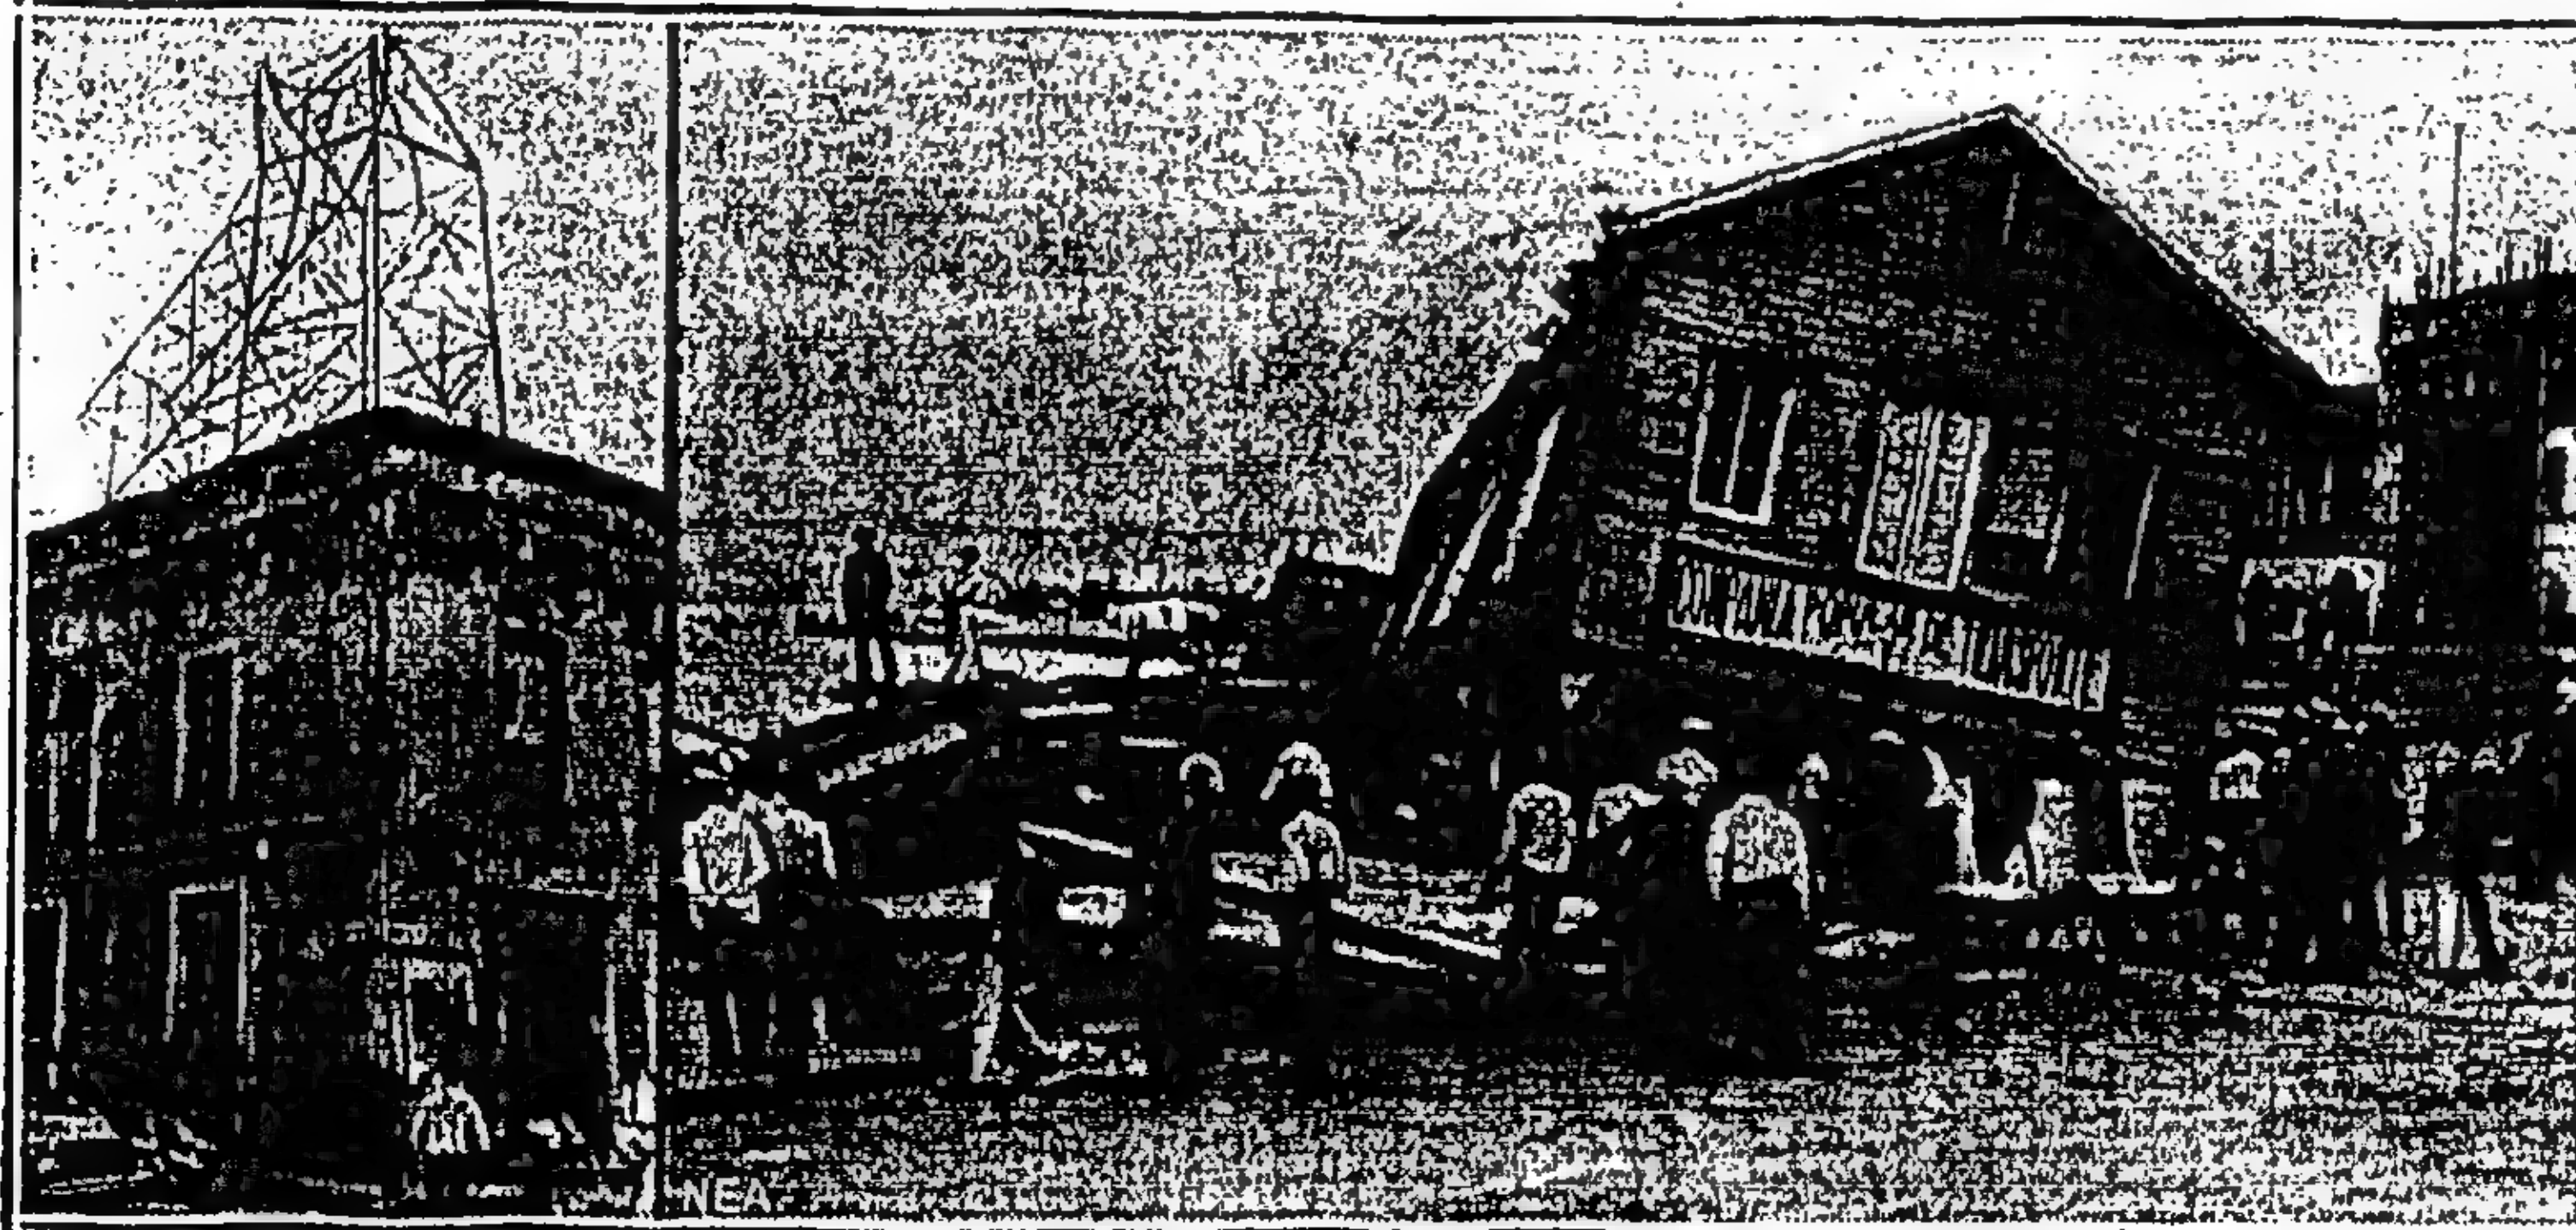

Communists were active in Holland—and so were police—as Queen Wilhelmina opened the Dutch Parliament at the Hague. Wielding a sword the officer shown in this unusual action picture has just struck down one of the agitators who attempted to stage a demonstration in the streets. Many were injured in the riot.

KING'S THEATRE

COMING SHORTLY

"SUNSHINE SUSIE"

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Her reputation as a toe, ballet, eccentric and ballroom dancer brought Marian Nixon to San Francisco. But curiosity took her to Hollywood. There she was seen by a motion picture director who, impressed by her beauty and charm, induced her to accept a small role in a silent picture. When the production was finished, her few flashes stood out so prominently that she was given a better role in another picture. One of her first roles was with Mary Pickford in "Rosita," but her real debut was made in "Kentucky Days" opposite Dustin Farnum. Her performance in this picture won a contract with Fox Films and she played roles in several of Tom Mix's pictures. Her first starring picture was "Spanangles." She enacts the leading feminine role in "Charlie Chan's Chance," the Fox mystery drama, showing now at the King's Theatre. Warner Oland portrays the title role and the supporting cast includes such well-known favourites as Alexander Kirkland, H. B. Warner, Linda Watkins, James Todd, James Kirkwood, Ralph Morgan and Charles McNaughton.

Fashion in England.

Margot Graham, as the gangster's cutie, once more sports her favourite muggle modes in "Innocents of Chicago," the B.L.P. gangster burlesque, directed by Lupino Lane, and showing at the Queen's Theatre from Thursday. One close fitting theatre gown of white satin has graduated godets of black velvet inset to form a very full skirt and train heavily bordered with black fox—the wide cuffs following a similar trend. A large fox collar completes this magnificent ensemble. Margot's fair beauty is further enhanced by an evening dress of daring design, in black and white satin. The backless bodice of black, held in place by narrow silver straps, merges into a fish shaped train lined with white satin, intricately studded with diamonds, as is the white panel which forms the front of the gown. The vivacious vamp, Elinor Barnes, as the rival gangster's daughter, is adorable in a alinky black velvet gown of enter-pillar design, the backless bodice of which boasts the new brace effect and shoulder epaulettes. Magnificent diamond earrings and pendant of barbaric design further enhance this gown which is worn a beautiful cloak of summer ermine. Besides these two sophisticated young women Betty Norton, as the snappy little newspaper reporter, imparts a piquant air of simplicity to her pear grey outfit which consists of a wrap de chine frock of military aspect, with upstanding collar, shoulder caps and innumerable buttons, and a matching velvet coat with collar and shoulder caps of squirrel.

"Carnival"

"Carnival," one of the most outstanding English pictures of the year, and the first of the British and Dominion new releases, opened at the Central Theatre yesterday. So infrequently has such a delightful production been seen on the screen, that it is well advisable for all to see. They will enjoy the delights of a glittering spectacular production. The main features of this unusual film are the melodramatic sequences which have been deftly woven with rhythmic music, played by a fine band, into some of the most colourful and artistic scenes which have yet been seen. There is a glamorous difference about "Carnival," the sound film adaptation of the famous stage play, that lifts it well above the average. Gorgeously mounted, beautifully acted and produced, it certainly deserves the praise showered upon it when at the Tivoli, London, where by the way, it broke box-office records. The Venetian scenes, are superlatively lovely, and Herbert Wilcox, the director, has brilliantly succeeded in imbuing the spirit of carnival throughout the film. Matheson Lang has his original role, in which he is magnificent, and Dorothy Boucher proves a lovely and talented actress.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

FASHION NOTES.

Practical Clothes.

To make successful clothes, it is essential to have the collaboration of the women who are to wear them, and no woman to-day will accept exaggerated fashions.

There is, therefore, no doubt that women have themselves to thank for the phase of practical clothes which is now in vogue. Their refusal to wear the "period fashions" of last season was a distinct blow to those dressmakers who had made such a feature of them. More than one designer found her collection left on her hands, simply because women could not be bothered to button themselves into tight frocks which fasten down the back or wear bustle-effects which look like rags after they are worn once.

This season there are two silhouettes. Both are slender, for we have not yet arrived at the time when dressmakers will give their authority for women to be indulgent about their food.

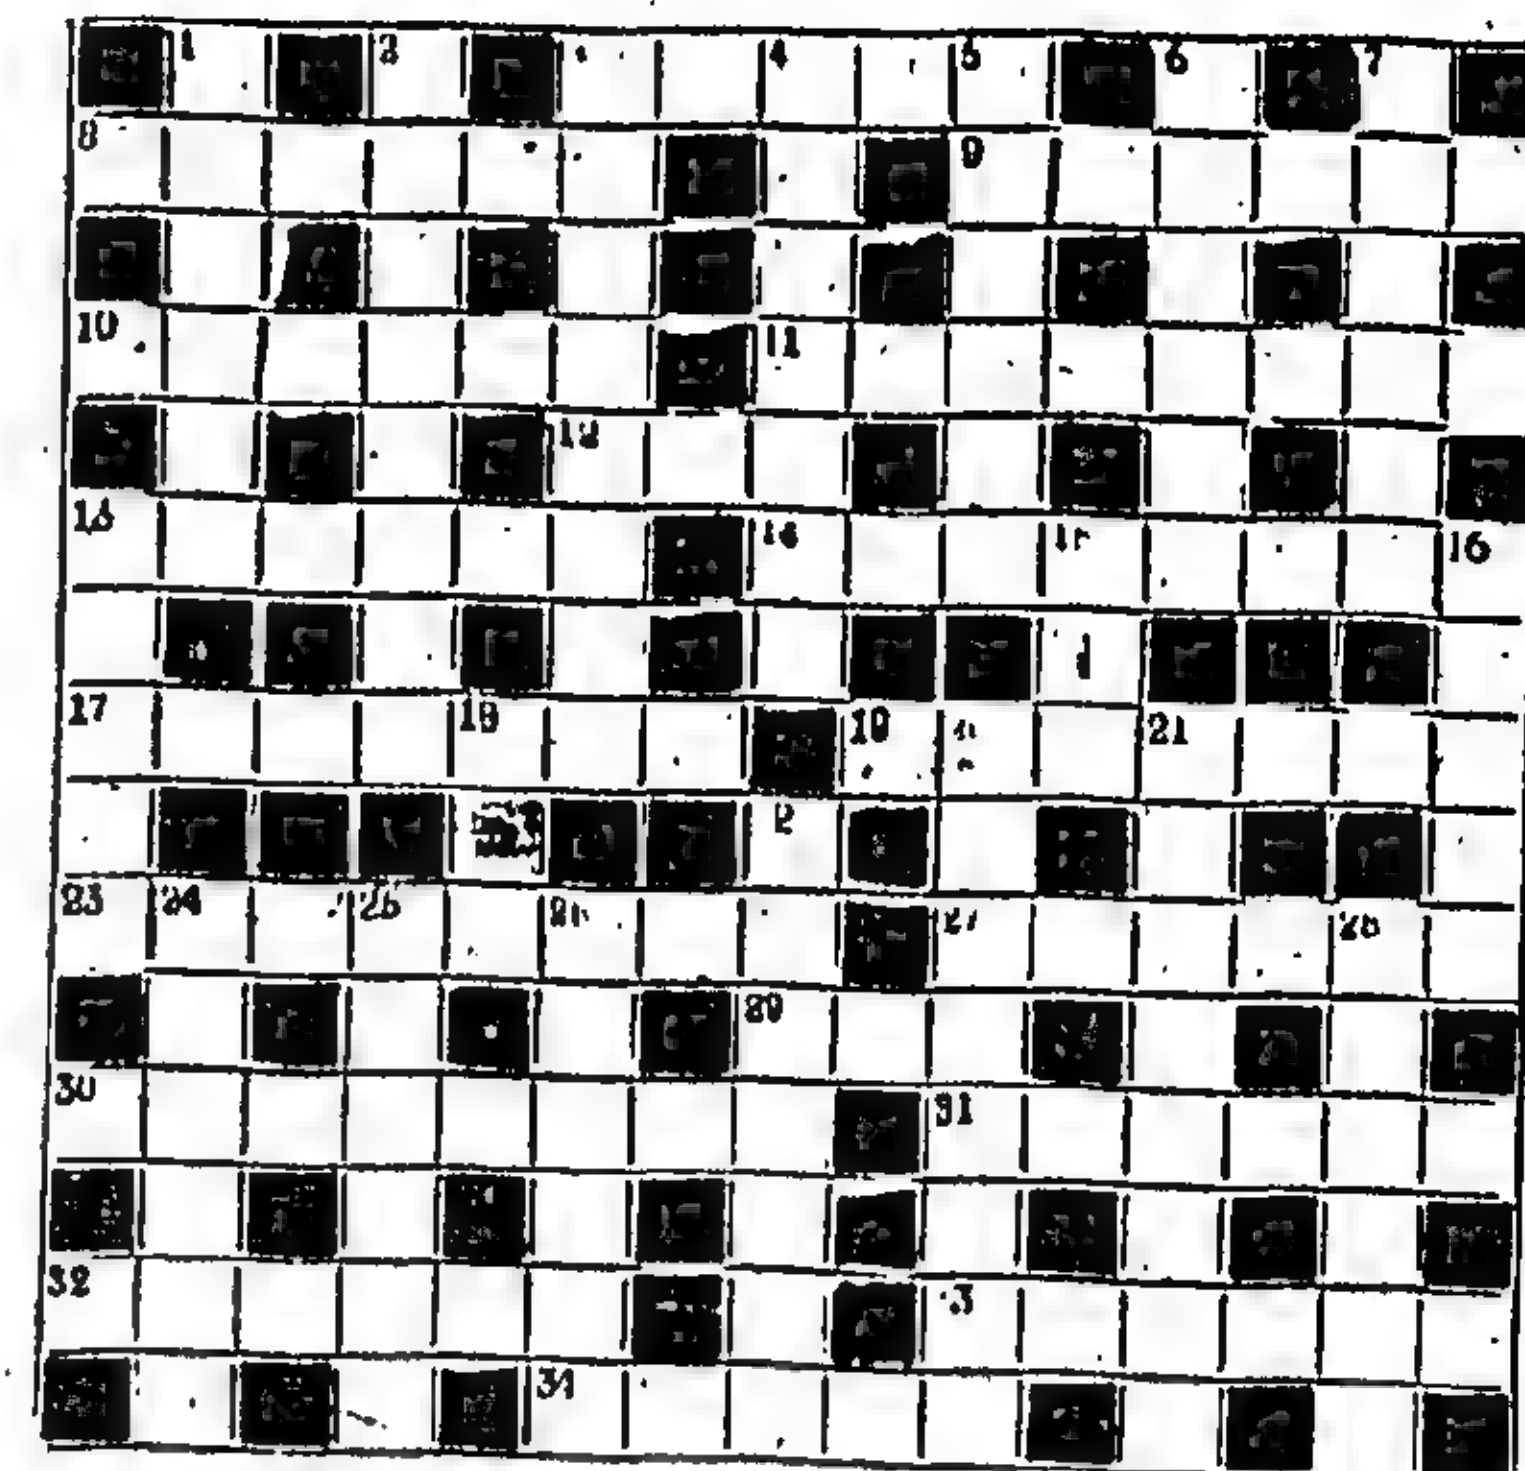

One seems slightly top-heavy, for the broad shoulder effect accentuated the waistline with the slim skirt which fits over the hips and widens nearer the hem. The other is slightly looser, suggesting that the reign of the fitting line is coming to an end.

Blue is the one outstanding colour this season. Paris is very keen about blue. It is to be seen in dark shades and in pastel colours. But there are well-known dressmakers who are pinning their faith to vivid colours. Therefore, women will be able to wear pretty much what they like so long as it suits them.

STAR NECKLACES.

Glass necklaces have recently become very popular, and all sorts of new shapes and colours are being evolved. Some of the newest glass necklaces consist of a string of large stars of transparent coloured glass, in the centre of each star is placed a tiny diamond bead, providing the characteristic sparkle.

AMERICA VOTES TO-MORROW

To-morrow is presidential election day in the United States, and on the votes cast will depend who is to be the nation's Chief Executive for the next four years. If present indications, as revealed in straw votes, are a safe guide, President Hoover has little chance of being re-elected. Almost everywhere it is conceded that Mr. Franklin Roosevelt has the better chance. The main issue is undoubtedly the current depression and its offshoots, though tariff policies and Prohibition figure prominently as well. There is no question that the Democrats blame the Hoover regime for the depression in the United States, but the Republican answer is that the crisis is not peculiar to America—that it is worldwide and therefore cannot be attributed to President Hoover's policies. However, when times are bad it is the custom in all countries to blame the Government in power, and America is no exception to the rule. Thus, on the principle that a change of party cannot make things worse than they are, many voters who would ordinarily not change their allegiance may be expected to switch from Republican to Democrat—in sufficient numbers probably to secure the return of Mr. Roosevelt.

Turning from the prospects of the poll, it will be interesting to see precisely how the United States elects its President—a subject on which there is much confusion in foreign countries. Actually, when the American voters go to the poll they do not in name vote for the presidential candidate. What they do is to vote for a number of "Electors" who have been pledged by their party affiliations to vote for their nominees. Coming down to details, the voters in every State are offered, on election day, a choice between lists of candidates for presidential Electors nominated by the various parties. The candidates, if chosen, vote for the nominees of their party. If, for example, the Democratic list of Electors wins in New York State, even by a small majority, the entire electoral vote of that State goes to the Democratic candidate for the Presidency. This would mean that all the Republican voters in the State have thrown away their votes for a list of Electors not chosen, who cannot have any part in the election of the President. It should be explained that there are as many electoral votes in each individual State as that State has Senators and Representatives in Congress. Thus a bare majority cast by the voters for a given list of Electors throws the entire electoral vote of the State to the candidates to whom the Electors are pledged. It is this which makes it possible for a President to be elected who actually receives a minority of the total popular vote of the entire country. What counts is not the majority popular vote, but a majority of the Electoral votes.

To summarise the position, the Electoral College comprises State Electors, each State having the same number of Electors as it has representatives in both houses of Congress—the Senate and the House of Representatives. This totals 531. Therefore the Electoral College has 531 votes to cast for President and Vice-President. A majority of one is sufficient to elect—therefore, 266 Electoral votes are required. If the system seems confused or indirect it is because the framers of the Constitution did not wish to entrust the average voter with the choice of a President. Political experience had taught them to be careful in their distribution of power, and even today, with vastly changed conditions, much of that distrust still remains.

Mr. Hoover's Accusers

President Hoover complains bitterly of the slanders directed against him by the Democratic campaigners and to a large extent he is justified. He has been depicted as a monster sitting at the White House through the misfortunes of the United States without lifting a hand to improve conditions. It is even suggested that but for the attitude of Mr. Hoover there would have been no worldwide depression. His own repudiation of the insupportable charges needs no endorsement. The truth, however, was stated by Newton Baker in his speech at the Metropolitan Opera House. The President has followed neither a policy of internationalism, nor a policy of isolation. In the result, he has fallen between two stools. It is probably correct to say that he did more than any other individual to relieve the sufferings of European peoples, and it is hardly to be supposed that the same man remained callously indifferent to the trials of Americans. The very real emotion which the President has showed in his denunciations of the falsehoods uttered about him is the mood which those who are most about him know best. No man has pondered more deeply the methods to be adopted to secure the restoration of prosperity and happiness. It is wholly within the limits of proper political discussion to question the efficacy of those remedies, but it is utterly beyond the boundaries of decency or of reason to charge the President either with indifference to the problem or with making its solution secondary to his political ambitions. The aspersions may defeat the purpose for which they are made, arousing in the mind of a certain section of the electorate a sympathy rather than an opposition. But the result will probably be the same. The pendulum has swung too heavily to recover in time for to-morrow's vital choice.

A fancy dress dance is being given by the President and general committee of the China Light and Power Recreation Club on Saturday next at the Pavilion, King's Park, at 9 p.m.

At to-morrow's meeting of the Sanitary Board, the President, pursuant to notice, will move—"That the Board approve the introduction of the following addition to the By-laws governing Markets: No person shall spit in any market-stall; nor in any market, avenue, stair-way, or thoroughfare."

The Europe Hotel, Singapore, has closed down. The passing of this famous landmark was marked by a "night" which recalled the Europe at its best and most prosperous. There have been various plans for its future, and the latest is a tentative proposal to rebuild the hotel on more modest lines than originally intended, at a cost of $1,500,000.

During the month of October 6,481 cases were attended to in the New Territories Brigade. Of these 68 were maternity cases and 6,403 general. Nine people were sent to hospital. One of the cases was obstetrical. Taken by districts there were 2,819 cases in Cheung Chow, 1,035 in Tai Ku, 954 in Kam Tin, 1,043 in Fanling and 530 in Tai Long.

The health bulletin for Eastern ports for the week ended October 29, shows the following cases of infectious diseases and deaths therefrom: Flagge, Baghdad one case, Beirut 4 cases, Colombo 4 cases 4 deaths, Semarang one case, Cholera, Bombay one case, Calcutta 11 cases 8 deaths, Small-pox, Alexandria 5 cases 2 deaths, Baghdad 2 cases, Basrah 17 cases 11 deaths, Bombay 6 cases 4 deaths, Calcutta 23 cases 8 deaths, Madras 33 cases 0 deaths, Negapatnam one case, and Canton 4 cases.

In reporting Friday's session of the Licensing Board, the remark was attributed to Mr. T. H. King, Deputy Inspector General of Police, that five full licences were regarded as sufficient for Kowloon. What Mr. King said was that the policy in Hongkong had been to restrict the number of full licences and five had been regarded as sufficient for the whole of the Central District in Victoria. There were already four full licences in the near vicinity of Hankow Road and there was no need for more full licences in that neighbourhood.

The Central Theatre was well patronised yesterday for the first showings of the British and Dominion's film "Carnival," starring Matheson Lang. From the technical point of view, the production is good, although the action is slowed up considerably by a deal of needless repetition. Matheson Lang stands out head and shoulders above the rest of the cast for his remarkably fine acting. Dorothy Boucher has the feminine lead and apart from a tendency to be somewhat explosive in the more dramatic points, which may be due in part to defective production, she is extremely good. Opinions will differ about this film, but it is certainly good entertainment.

STARVING IN A LAND OF PLENTY

By PETER BROWN

"The world is getting richer and richer, and it remains only to devise a monetary system capable of utilising that growing wealth."

—Lord Melchett.

WHAT is wealth? Surround yourself with stacks of gleaming gold and await starvation as cheerfully as you can.

Provide yourself with food for a year, and you'll live for a year. Equip yourself with food for a year, a fertile bit of ground and the means to till it, and you're on velvet.

Productive capacity is the only real wealth. The world is capable of producing more than ever before and is therefore wealthier than ever.

The increase in real wealth has, in fact, been so stupendous that, if it had been exploited rationally, this world would long ago have become a paradise for every civilised human being—a paradise consisting of a useful occupation, a sufficiency of the necessities and comforts of life, and adequate leisure for the improvement of body and mind.

There is no need to go to Moscow to make this paradise a reality. All that is necessary is emancipation from the bondage of an imperfect system of exchange of commodities.

Coffee is being dumped in the sea in Brazil, wheat is being fired in locomotives in Canada, in every country there are swarms of able workers eating their hearts out in enforced idleness.

What is at the root of all this senseless waste? The answer is, quite simply, that the facilities for exchanging goods (the world's currency) are tied down to a stationary quantity like gold instead of being kept in line with trading needs.

All currency must have a definite backing in gold; it is tied hand-and-foot to gold; it cannot be increased except in the ratio of the additional gold produced. Each year a minute quantity of gold is laboriously mined from the earth; each year, therefore, a minute amount of additional currency is made available.

During the past hundred years or so the capacity for producing useful commodities has increased many thousand-fold. This immense increase in productive capacity has, however, been stifled, because the means of exchanging additional quantities of goods has been made available—because the media of exchange are made entirely dependent on the increase in the stocks of the commodity that is hardest and slowest of all to produce.

What Use is Gold? To what use is gold put when it has been obtained? It is successively exchanged for useful commodities. It cannot create anything whatsoever itself. A piece of paper with an honest signature would fulfil the identical purpose just as well. And the number of these honest promises to give real value for real value would not be held down artificially, as the capacity for producing useful commodities increases, the number of these absolutely sound media of exchange could be increased correspondingly.

There is no mystery about the broad basis of finance. When the British farmer buys an ounce of tobacco he gives the planter in Virginia a turnip or two in exchange. The function of finance is to facilitate this exchange, enabling innumerable others to participate in multifarious ways in the process.

The present working of finance is so faulty, however, that we are approaching the stage when the farmer will have to appear in person before the Virginian, turnips in hand, if he wants a smoke.

Barter is a cumbersome procedure. Apart from its unwieldiness, it has the following outstanding disadvantage: It cuts out all the intermediate activities which finance makes possible, depriving innumerable worthy people of a livelihood—a highly useful livelihood, adding incalculably to the amenities enjoyed by the community and the individual.

There is, fortunately, an alternative to the baleful prospect of primitive bartering. This alternative holds out the brightest prospect ever offered to humanity, the inauguration of an era of unparalleled prosperity. A simple operation only is necessary—a twofold expansion of the media of exchange.

The first phase consists of a substantial and proportionate increase of the domestic currency note issue in every country, to bring to life the dormant producing and consuming capacity within the countries. Each £ sterling will still have the same value as before in dollars, francs, marks, etc.

The second phase is the crediting of an adequate number of international units of value to each country.

Apply the additional issues of currency rationally, and there will be a tremendous increase in the consumption of commodities without any appreciable increase in prices. An increase in the number of monetary "counters" in existence will not mean any reduction in the buying power of each individual counter until either (or both) of two factors makes itself felt:—

(a) When demand balances and exceeds supply;

(b) When production costs are increased.

The former of these two contingencies cannot set in for some time, as it is being continually dimmed into us that the world is suffering from what is termed "over-production."

As regards the second contingency, any rise in the cost of producing commodities is unlikely, if the additional currency is applied to useful public purposes in which labour at present rates of wages is the chief item of expenditure. When a reduction in the value of the individual monetary units takes place, this reduction will be gradual, and very small in proportion to the extra amount of currency brought into use.

Widespread Benefits. Let us endeavour to visualise a few of the effects of proportional expansion of currency: No dislocation of existing values. All idle labour quickly and usefully absorbed. Trade and industry booming. Calls for private capital for every purpose. Private investors sure of a safe and profitable return on their savings, which need no longer be left to swell the deposits in the banks.

Every country stands to gain by the scheme. Proportional expansion of currency is the sure stepping-stone to prosperity and security.

Let us now turn for a moment from this alluring prospect to what is actually happening to-day. It is depressing in the extreme. "Cut down" is the universal watchword.

An (artificially) impoverished community is faced with the task of maintaining an enormous number of able men and women deprived of work by the fetters of contraction. The calls on the national purse for this purpose have mounted until they have become a serious drag upon industry, yet a substantial reduction of taxation is beyond the bounds of probability.

The issue is plain, and needs but few words. Expansion will unfailingly give us prosperity and happiness.

GOOSEBERRIES—BUT NO FOOLS

By ST. VINCENT TROUBRIDGE. Chaparons are back in fashion again—yet no girl need be a penny the worse for that. Two or three years ago it certainly looked as if those Victorian idols had been toppled off their little gilt chairs round the ballroom for ever. A debutante would have felt as ashamed to bring a chaparon to a party as to bring a shiny nose.

The famous revolt of youth has died down a bit since then, possibly (Continued on Page 4.)

DISCUSSIONPOWER OF ATTORNEY WANTED

The production of a power of attorney was the subject of much legal argument when the case against Chan Sik-nin came up before Mr. Schofield on remand at the Central Police Court to-day.

The accused is charged with having forged and uttered a power of attorney and with it to have taken control and management of the King Fook Wo firm of 69, Bonham Strand East. He is accused also of having defrauded the firm of property and monies to the extent of $130,000.

Instructed by Mr. Peter Sin on behalf of the prosecution, Mr. Hin Shing Lo asking for the modification of a previous direction, requested that he be permitted full access to certain documents in a safe, in the presence of the police, but not necessarily inspecting them together with Mr. F. X. D'Almada, Sr., who is representing the accused.

Further, Mr. Lo called for the production of a power of attorney with which the accused claimed to have been equipped, arguing that the charges in themselves were sufficient notice for production.

On the other hand, if the Court ruled against him, he now gave notice, holding that this was sufficient in criminal procedure.

Property involved in the case is said to be at Hanoi, French Indo-China, and much legal argument that followed related to the fixing of a date for the hearing.

Mr. Schofield said the question could be washed out because he had no available day this week for the hearing.

His Worship formally adjourned the case for a week, by the end of which time he intimated that he expected to be informed as to when the prosecution was prepared to proceed with hearing.

A formal notice for the production of the power of attorney was accepted by Mr. D'Almada, whether it was to be substantiated later orally, by letter or by telephone.

REVOLVER USED TO INTIMIDATEMAN ADMITS CHARGE OF POSSESSION

In a raid carried out by a party of police at 22, Pokfulam Road on Saturday morning, four Chinese were arrested on a charge of being in possession of an automatic revolver which was loaded with nine rounds. As a result, the men were brought before Mr. Kennedy Skipton at the Central Police Court, when three were discharged and the other pleaded guilty.

Detective Sergeant D. Fitches informed his Worship that the revolver was found on a bed on which the four men had been lying. It was under the first defendant (the man who pleaded guilty) and appeared to have been discarded by him when the police entered.

The police had information that the revolver had been used to demand money and intimidate people, while one of the men pointed out two bullet marks on a wall at the rear where the weapon had been tested in preparation to its being used in some unlawful undertaking.

The first defendant was remanded for 48 hours for further enquiries into his character, while the other three were discharged.

CAPTAIN'S CUP COMPETITION

In the Captain's Cup Competition, played at Plover on the weekend, S. T. Butler (86-14-72) and Captain H. W. Daukes (88-10-72) tied on the Old Course and will play off. There was 42 entries, and other scores included I. Newton (80-6-74), J. E. Richardson (87-18-74) and Commander McBean (83-8-75).

On the New Course, A. T. Lay qualified with a score of 77 (83-9). There were 14 entries.

The play-off for the St. John of Jerusalem and Royal Red Cross Cup resulted in a win for Captain W. D. Hughes (11), with a card of one up.

A history of saloon and Prohibition days, of the causes for and against the passing of the Volstead Act, is given in "The Wet Parade," which some may regard as propaganda, but which formed capital entertainment when screened for the first time at the Queen's Theatre yesterday. Of the big array of well-known actors, Lewis Stone and Walter Huston are outstanding by their accomplished performances. There are breaks in the sequence here and there, but these can be forgiven in view of the obvious pains bestowed by the producers to make it a "memorable" topical production.

BANKRUPTCY
COURTEXAMINATION OF THREE DEBTORS

Three public examinations in bankruptcy were heard at the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp).

During the examination of the Sang Lee firm, compradore's shop, 69A, Des Voeux Road, Mr. Leo Hong-ho, managing partner of the firm since its commencement six years ago, said he was the smallest shareholder, his contribution to the capital of $18,000 being $500. All the other shareholders had left the Colony and he had not seen them for two or three years. The firm had made no profits and he, personally, had no means. As far as he knew, the other partners had no property.

NO BALANCE SHEETS.

For the past three or four years no balance sheet had been made out. He handed no books to Mr. Ho Leung (of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., petitioning creditors) at the creditors' meeting, but only chops, important documents and a small sum of money. After the meeting, the books were taken from the shop by representatives of creditors to the Compradores Association. He had managed the business entirely. For a few months in 1930 the firm acted as agents to a shipping firm. In that year he was $4,000 short of the amount required to pay creditors in full. In the next year, they lost about $6,000 in exchange.

He realized the firm was insolvent in 1930, but continued trading in the hope that business would improve and he would be able to pay the creditors. Business became worse, and now the firm's liabilities amounted to $36,000.

The examination was closed and an adjudication order made on the application of Mr. E. L. Agassiz, Official Receiver.

CHAUFFEUR'S DEBTS.

Rahmat Din, an Indian chauffeur, of 131, Woosung Street, Kowloon, in the course of his examination stated that he came to the Colony from India nine years ago, and then learned to drive a car. He was at present employed as a chauffeur at $65 a month. His liabilities amount to $2,595, and with the exception of three sums for $10, $30 and $20 the amount of debt was incurred by guaranteeing promissory notes for another man.

Mr. Agassiz questioned debtor at length regarding the promissory notes and applied for an adjudication order, which was granted, debtor to pay $10 a month.

PORTUGUESE CASE.

The public examination was closed in the case of Jorge Carlos Souza, 215, Fyuen Street, who stated that his net salary was $137.50. In 1925 he owed creditors about $1,000, after paying off $1,200. His liabilities at present were $3,853. He first started borrowing money in 1918 for his father. He received his last loan from money-lenders in April last year, and now offered $20 a month for the benefit of creditors.

SECOND DOUBLE MURDER.RIVAL SMUGGLER'S
DEATH FEUD

Bound hand and foot and tied together with a length of rope, the bodies of two Chinese were found floating in the harbour on Saturday morning. This is the second double murder in two days and is believed to be the outcome of a gang feud.

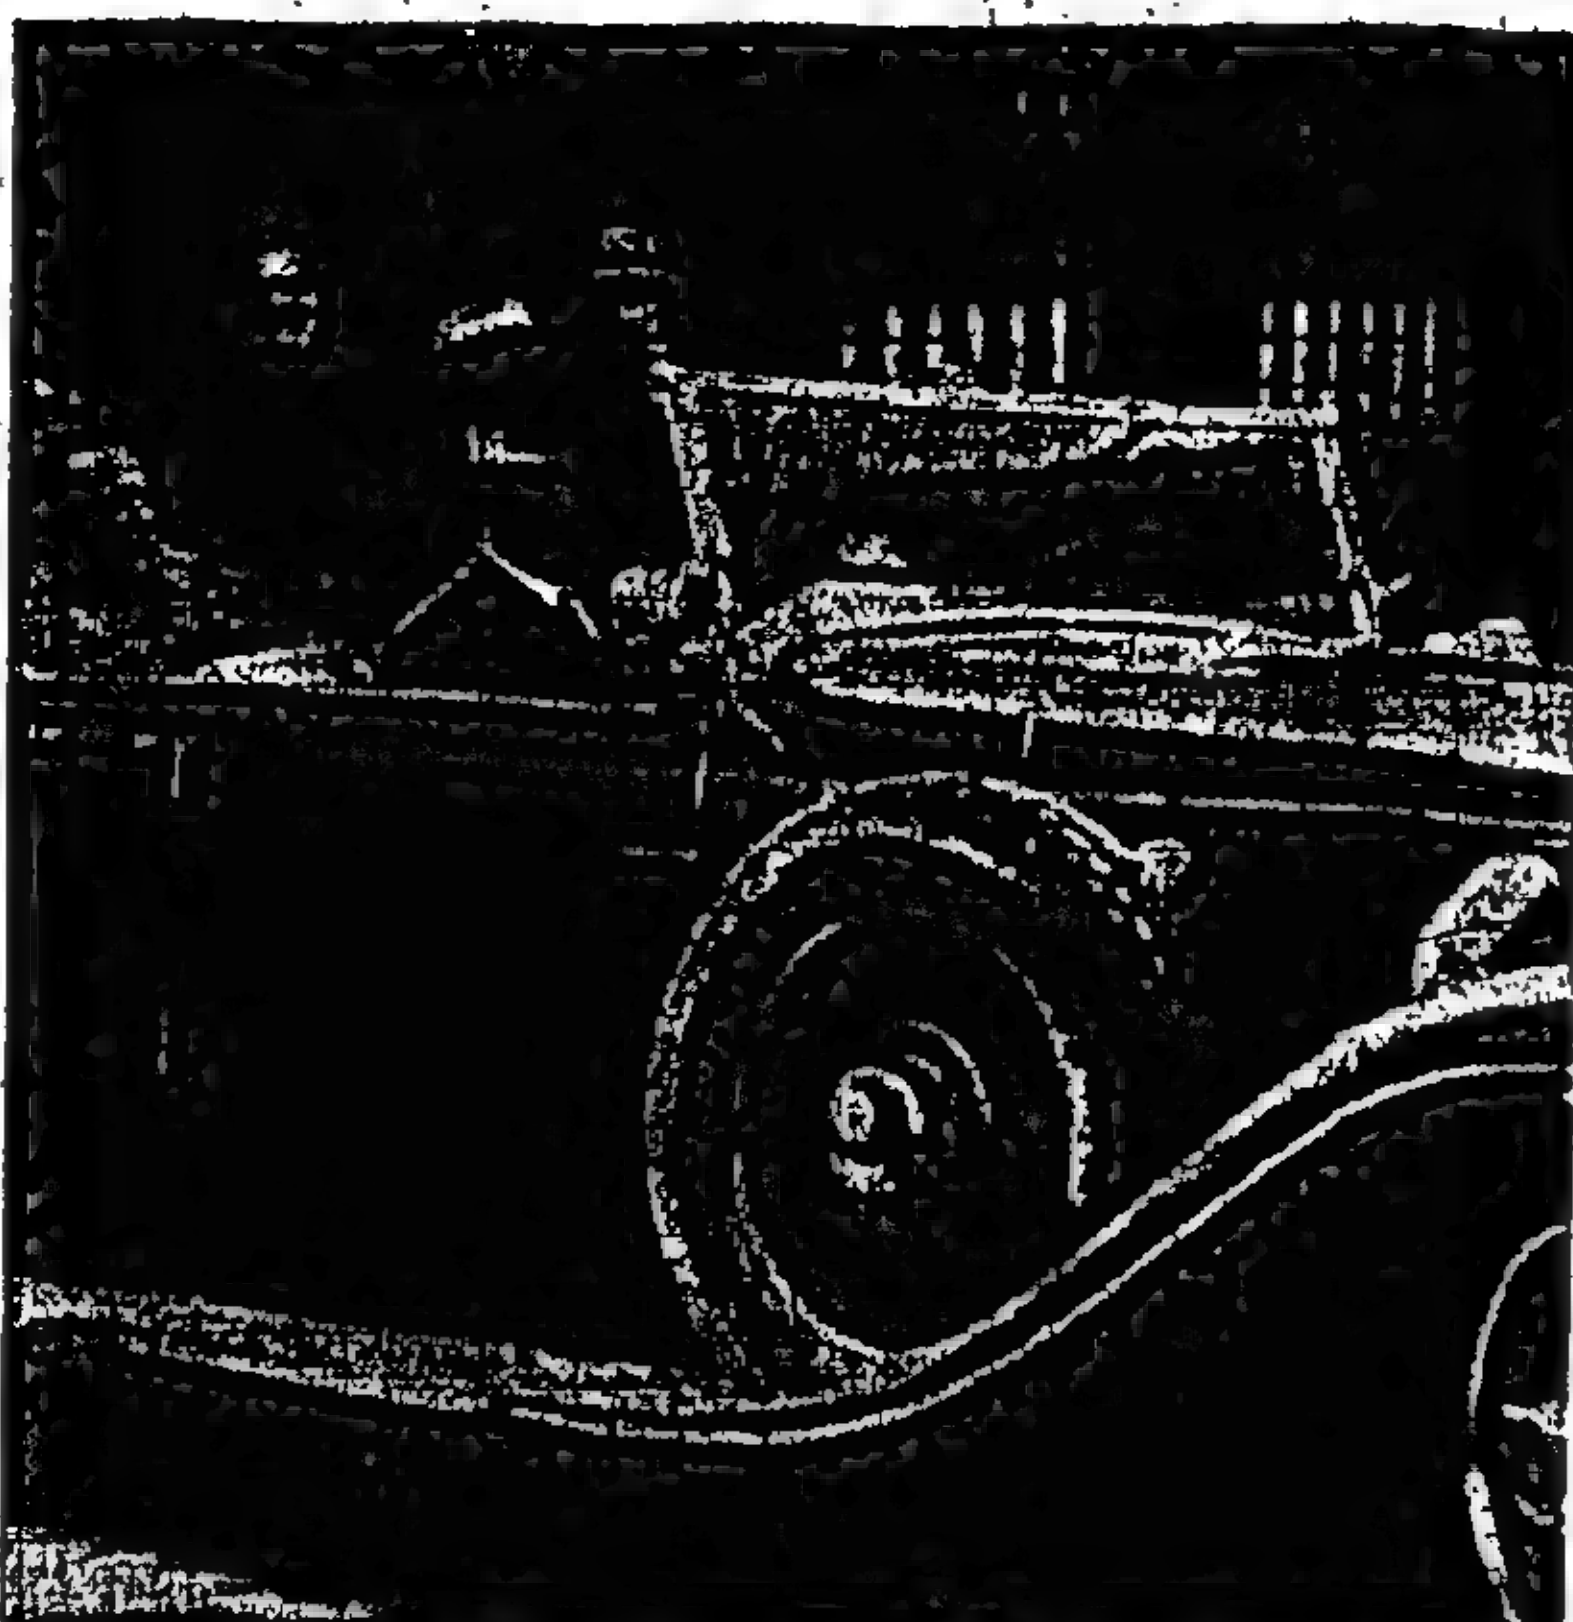

On Thursday night, two junks loaded with contraband sugar, rode at anchor in Cheung Sha Wan Bay, waiting for daylight before sailing to Chinese territory. At 11 p.m. a public motor boat glided alongside, and six Chinese, masquerading as Customs officers, came on board. They demanded to see the master's licence, after which they bound the crew of eight and towed the junk away.

"We are taking you to a European Customs officer" the leader told the helpless men.

Unobserved by the bogus customs officers, six of the crew freed themselves and plunged into the harbour. As soon as they reached the shore they informed the police and a search for the motor boat was instituted.

Bodies Discovered.

The next development was Saturday's gruesome discovery of two bodies in the harbour. They were those of Ah Yiu and Wong Chi Yung, the chief smuggler and his assistant. The two junks were found floating in the harbour.

Herr Hitler, whose party lost about 2,000,000 votes and 34 seats in the Reichstag in yesterday's election.

DEADLOCK STILL

July totals at this stage and the Communists and German Nationalists had achieved marked gains.

NAZI LOSSES.

The Nazi losses were at least 20 per cent, as compared with July, while the Nationalists, Communists and Peoples Parties were gaining steadily. The Centre Party remains more or less stationary and the Socialists were losing ground.

Berlin, Midnight.—Although the final figures in the election are still not available, it is clear that Herr Hitler has suffered a severe setback, while the German National leader, Herr Hugenburg, has scored a victory. The Communists, the Peoples Parties and the States Party have also obtained a markedly improved voting strength.

MIDNIGHT POSITION.

The state of the parties at 11.50 p.m. when nearly 29,000,000 votes had been counted was:

Nazis	167 seats
Socialists	96 "
Communists	82 "
Centre	59 "
Nationalists	39 "
Bav. Peoples	14 "
Ger. Peoples	9 "
Others	11 "

FINAL SPURT.

Fifteen minutes after midnight, he total of votes counted was over 34,000,000 and the process was almost complete. The state of the parties at this stage was:

Nazis	189
Socialists	119
Communists	97
Centre	64
German Nationalists	48
Bav. People	18
German Peoples	10
Others	14

Afterwards both the Nazis and the Centre Party made a distinct spurt in the voting, gaining six seats each as compared with five for all other parties.—Reuter.

VOTING STRENGTHS.

Berlin, Later.—The final provisional list of votes shows that 35,409,718 votes were cast, considerably less than in July. Of these the parties secured:

Nazis	11,712,983
Socialists	7,233,534
Communists	5,972,702
Centre	4,228,364
German Natls	2,951,839
Bavarian Peoples	1,080,124
German Peoples	659,931
State Party	326,805
Christian Soc	402,803
Economic Party	110,830
Agrarian	164,848

Many seats were lost through freak and invalid votes numbering 564,955. One seat is secured for every sixty thousand votes cast.—Reuter.

THE PERCENTAGES

Mr. M. Heff, of the Defag Company, this morning picked up by wireless a message giving the Party strengths, in percentages, when 34,000,000 votes had been cast. For all practical purposes, this represents the result of the election, as very few more votes remained to be cast.

The figures are as follows:—National Socialist, 35.3; Social Democrat, 20.8; Communist, 17; Centre, 12.7; German National, 8; Bavarian Peoples' Party, 3; German Peoples' Party, 2.

HELPING POOR OF HONGKONGGOOD WORK DONE BY LOCAL SOCIETY

Striking evidence of the work done for the poor of the Colony is contained in the annual report of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, which is holding its annual street sale of roses on December 1st and its annual fete on December 4th.

It is disclosed that relief in money and provisions for the nine months ended September, 1932, was $5,767.00 as against $5,360.00 for the same period in 1931. The Society has also during the nine months expended $154.80 in providing shoes and clothing for poor children, and $62.55 for medical aid. The above sum of $5,767.00 was expended in the maintenance of 147 families, comprising 208 persons, to whom assistance was given irrespective of race, nationality or creed. During the period under review 1,285 visits were made to the poor in their homes.

HOUSING.

As recorded in the last annual report, the general trade depression and the consequent increase in the number of unemployed, have caused the Society no little anxiety in the matter of the housing of the poor. The expenditure under this head during the whole of 1930 amounted to $1,974.80. This increased to $2,030.84 for 1931, while for the nine months January to September, 1932, the disbursement was $1,721.71.

Of this sum, $75.56 represents grants made to assist distressed families under distraint for rent.

Passengers for European and Other Destitutes from outside the Colony.—The Society has again had to deal with several cases of this nature. The expenditure for the nine months ended September, 1932, on passages provided was $90.00. In this connection the Society is grateful to some of the Shipping Companies for reduction in fares.

EDUCATION.

It is the policy of the Society to afford as good an education to the children of the poor as funds permit. To ensure this there is an Education Sub-Committee, whose chief duties are to examine and sign the weekly reports of the students, to look after their moral and intellectual improvement and to provide them with clothes, shoes, books, stationery, etc., when required. Out of 150 children whose parents are the Society's beneficiaries, 106 are receiving an English education at the expenses of the Society at St. Joseph's College, La Salle College, St. Mary's School, Italian Convent, St. Francis' School or are attending the Society's Vernacular School, the Kallap School at Wan-chai.

Besides providing education for these children, the Society is also maintaining 4 destitute orphan girls at the Italian Convent, Caine Road, and 2 boys at St. Louis Industrial School, West Point. The Society is grateful for the reduced charges made by these schools.

Under the head of education, the Society's expenditure during the nine months ended 30th September, 1932, was $3,995.79. Of this sum $568.29 was for books, stationery and ferry fares. This expense is a heavy drain on the Society's resources, which depend entirely on the uncertain results of each annual bazaar. Considering the good work done by the Society, the Council hopes that the public will respond sympathetically to its appeal for donations. The total expenditure on education in 1931 was $4,204.75 an increase of $208.79.

CHRISTMAS GRANTS.

The disbursement on this account in 1931 was $1,018.00. The

OLDE ENGLISH
ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The happy atmosphere of Morris England pervaded the grounds of St. Andrew's Church at Kowloon on Saturday on the occasion of the Old English Faire, held for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the recently installed electric fans and to meet obligations in connexion with Church extension work.

The grounds were ablaze with colour. Bunting of every hue, the colourful old-time costumes of the helpers, the inevitable gaily decked Maypole on the Village Green, the old English dances, an old English cottage, and the numerous booths all lent to the creation of the traditional faire, while during the evening one was transported back into the present when coloured electric lights, hung from every conceivable vantage point, were switched on.

The opening ceremony was performed by Mrs. J. R. Wood, wife of the Pulano Judge, who was met at the entrance by the Vicar, the Rev. W. W. Rogers, in the dress of an old English country gentleman, and Messrs. J. H. Hunt, R. Dormer, J. W. Baldwin and R. Baldwin, attired in Beefeaters' costume. Headed by the Town Crier (Mr. L. D. Skinner) the party proceeded to the "Village Green" where Mr. P. S. Cassidy, who presided, said there was always something typically English about St. Andrew's and all connected with it. They resembled very much an English parish and possessed that team spirit which was much to be envied. Under the leadership of the Vicar they had been able to carry through many successful enterprises and he congratulated them.

Mrs. Wood then declared the Faire open and was thanked by the vicar, who remarked that they had received a great deal of encouragement from the Homeland. He also extended the thanks of the Committee to all who had helped.

Mr. Cassidy was thanked on the motion of Mr. J. W. Baldwin, and Mrs. Wood was presented with an old English posy by little Edith Hoare.

Pretty Folk Dances.

After the opening speeches had been delivered, old English folk dances were presented on the Village Green and received prolonged applause. They included the Maypole dance, an early Victorian Gavotte, and a country dance, "Newcastle," all of which were executed by girls of the Diocesan Girls' School under the skilled direction of Miss W. Henderson.

At intervals during the afternoon, the "Strolling Players," Messrs. S. A. Sweet, R. Woolley, J. W. Baldwin, H. Kew, E. H. P. White and R. Baldwin, presented a brief, but laughter-packed scene, young Pyramus and his love, Thisbe.

At 8 o'clock, the Young People's Service presented the well-known story-play, "Alice in Wonderland," under the direction of Mrs. Langley, assisted by Mrs. Thomas and the Misses M. Rice and L. Woolley.

Side Shows and Stalls.

Numerous side-shows which included the Ducking Stool for saucy spouses, Hoop-la—as played by His Majesty King Henry VIII of blessed memory, Miss White's lucky dip, fishing pool, the killing of Guy Fawkes, cockerant shies, patronised by the Nobility, a shooting gallery, ye olde English game of Skeeball, gold-fish throw and the skittle alley of ancient fame, were under the direction of Mr. Jeffries, assisted by Messrs. E. F. Selk and R. Dormer.

The arrangements were made by an executive committee comprising

Rev. W. W. Rogers vicar and chairman; Mr. F. W. Dann secretary; Mr. J. W. Baldwin treasurer; Mrs. W. W. Rogers, Mrs. G. E. Elliot-Heywood, Mrs. J. H. Hunt, Mrs. J. P. Robinson, Mrs. W. A. Robinson, Mrs. R. Baldwin, Mrs. M. Woolley, Mr. R. Baldwin, Mr. G. B. Labrum, Mr. J. H. Hunt, Mr. S. A. Sweet, Mr. W. H. Robson, Rev. N. V. Halward, and Mr. E. F. Fincher.

The stalls situated around the grounds were: Fancy Goods.—Mothers' Union, Leader Mrs. J. W. Baldwin; "Dollery"—Women's Section of the Y.M.C.A.—Leader Mrs. Hunt; Home-made provisions.—Leaders Mrs. Laurensen and Mrs. Cole; Flowers, fruit and vegetables.—Leaders Mrs. and Miss Robinson; Empire.—Leader Mrs. C. E. Elliot-Heywood; Children's toys.—V. D. M. A. (Cathedral Branch); Lavender.—Leader Mrs. Macaskill; Books.—From the British and Foreign Bible Society by courtesy of Rev. Frank Short; Sweets and cigarettes.—Diocesan Girls' School.

Novelty and useful articles by the members of the Children's Service were on sale at a special Stall. Here also were Christmas cards designed by Rev. E. A. Armstrong, Messrs. Felshaw, Sweet and Woolley. Mr. and Mrs. Rose sold second-hand books, and ice-creams were on sale from a stall run by the St. Peter's Branch of V.D.M.A., while home-made ginger beer and brandy snaps were dispensed from the Olde English Cottage by Mrs. Rupert Baldwin and her helpers.

Lavender girls were much in evidence, while the Gipsy palmist and soothsayer, "Cassandra" was kept busy.

The Faire closed with a fancy dress carnival dance at the Church hall at which Mr. E. F. Fincher was M.C. Music was supplied by means of a gramophone lent by Messrs. Rudolf, Wolff and Kew, the records for which were supplied by the courtesy of Messrs. Tsang Fook.

The proceeds amounted to over $3,000.

LABOUR PROBLEM

VOLUNTARY EFFORTS
PRAISED.

London, Nov. 5.

Many private members as well as members of the Government and leaders of the Opposition contributed to the first stage of the three days debate on unemployment yesterday.

The purpose of the discussion was to pool ideas in a non-partisan spirit for the solution of unemployment difficulties.

Many references were made last night to the excellent voluntary efforts undertaken by civil and national organizations for providing useful occupations and healthy recreation for men without employment, and suggestions were made for their development.

The Minister of Labour, Sir Henry Ketterson, confirmed the forecast of the improved statistics, details of which will be available in the returns issued on Monday night.—British Wireless.

Unemployed Marchers

London, Nov. 5.

The remainder of the 2,000 unemployed marchers who came to London to hold demonstration meetings ten days ago, left for their homes to-day by train. Others returned earlier by motor coach. Railway companies had undertaken to transport them at exceptionally low fares of three miles for a penny.

The marchers expressed their appreciation of this generous offer and pointed out that the fact that only a handful of their number had been charged as result of disorders in London show that they had not come for violent or illegal purposes.

The general impression is that their march was manipulated by a few hotheds desiring to create disorder and that the demonstrations gave the opportunity for rowdy metropolitan elements to cause trouble.—British Wireless.

PYORRHEA'S attack is invisible

THE ugly mouth disease, Pyorrhea, can lurk for 10 years, unnoticed. It is an invisible enemy, which attacks the gums. But only later makes itself known in many horrible ways. Its first warning may be your teeth brush—just a bit pink from bleeding gums. Then the gums get soft, spongy, tender. Next the teeth loosen in their sockets and what may happen then, worst of all, the teeth drop out, or have to be pulled out.

The price you pay for neglect, is the dreaded disease, pyorrhea, and all of its attending ills.

Loss of teeth often leads to general bad health and loss of vitality. Your healthy smile disappears and with it, popularity and admiration . . . and your friends!

You don't have to risk this! Start now. Save your teeth. Use Forhan's for the Gums. More than an ordinary tooth paste, it prevents pyorrhea.

will keep your gums healthy, your teeth beautifully white, and sound. Remember, there is no substitute for fine, healthy teeth and the smile of youth and no finer dentifrice than Forhan's for the Gums.

Forhan's for the Gums is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D.D.S., specialist in mouth diseases. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Astringent developed by Dr. Forhan and used by dentists throughout the world in the treatment of pyorrhea.

WHY NOT HAVE THAT EXTRA THIRD?

CHINA REALTY COMPANY 8% DEBENTURES
8% INTEREST VS 6% INTEREST
MEANS ONE THIRD MORE INCOME

The following extracts are taken from the Chairman's statement at the last annual Shareholders Meeting, February 29th, 1932.

"We feel that the Debenture holder from an investment standpoint, is just as much an interested partner of the Company as the Common Shareholder and is entitled to his just return on his investment, and by the figures given on the two years' working, I think we have amply proven that we were right, that our Debenture holders receive eight per cent. interest instead of six per cent."

"The most successful concerns of the future will be those who recognize this principle—that even banks will allocate to depositors a part of profits earned on their money over and above current rates of interest. As our balance sheets show quite plainly the proceeds from the sale of our debentures is not used for the purchase of Real Estate, as we are not speculators, but for investment in first class mortgages, amply secured not only by the value of the property pledged as security, but as a further security the debentures constitute a first claim on the total assets of the Company. An analysis of the figures involved shows that every debenture has behind it assets equal to three times its value."

"If after careful consideration of actual facts and figures you are receiving less than 8% upon your investments and/or savings, you are not using judgment but following old customs, believing 5% and 6% are current rates."

							373,905

Earned above 8% paid to Debenture holders—$643,046

Of the above mortgages, there was assigned to investors:

1930 $ 6,532,660.00
1931 $13,223,545.00

A lower rate of commission existed in 1931 due to cheap money for the greater part of the year, from September, money commenced to tighten up. As it is we earned 1.33% interest in excess of 8% paid on our Debentures, in addition to $146,825 commissions. From the above it will be seen that our 8% Debentures are secured by first mortgages on 56.4% of value and backed up with $5,000,000 capital.

GERMAN POLITICS

RADICALS BLOCK CITY'S TRAMWAY SYSTEM

Berlin, Nov. 5. Apart from a limited tram service under police protection, the city is without means of transport this morning.

Communists and other extremists during the night filled up the tram-lines with cement and threw barricades up in many places in the suburbs.

Flying squads of armed police are dashing round the city, prepared for trouble, but up to now there has been no disorder. Attempts of the extremists to persuade other workers to join a general strike have so far proved unsuccessful.

Two more Communist papers have been suppressed but the strike threat excitement is overshadowed by the election in Berlin where decorated police are likely if the stoppage continues in the transport service.—Reuter.

Nazi-Communist Clash

Berlin, Nov. 6. Election Day opened dull and rainy with only a few trams running, as a heavy poll is likely. Polling opened at 9 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. The final result is not likely to be known until early Monday morning.

So far everything is peaceful throughout the country except a Nazi-Communist collision at Essen where shots were fired and stones thrown. A Nazi was severely injured.

There were the usual election scenes in Berlin with a representative of each party bearing an election poster outside the polling station, generally a tavern. Nazis were in uniform in the streets and the working class districts were full of party placards, mostly Communist. Police patrolled the streets and processions and meetings were prohibited.

Only 25 to 30 per cent. of the electorate had voted by noon, including President Hindenburg, who voted at 9.15 a.m. for the German Nationals at a small cafe near his residence. He was cheered by the crowd on his departure.

Her von Papen and other ministers also voted in the morning.

The morning's front page appeals to the electorate to vote en masse for parties. The flight journals proclaim that only von Papen can save Germany from ruin and the left urge Germany to become a democratic state as "Government Barons" are useless.—Reuter.

Planes Keep Watch

Berlin, Nov. 6. At 2.30 p.m. it was estimated that 48 per cent. had so far voted. All was quiet.

Two police planes kept flying over the city ready to warn headquarters by wireless in the event of a disturbance. The few buses that appeared on the streets were heavily guarded by police.—Reuter.

LOCAL WEDDINGS

Mr. Cyril Edwin Gahagan, the local cricketer, was married on Saturday afternoon at St. John's Cathedral to Miss Eileen Barbara Medina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Medina. Mr. Gahagan, who is on the staff of the Hongkong Electric Company, is the son of the late Mr. E. G. Gahagan and Mrs. Gahagan.

The Very Rev. Dean Alfred Swann was the officiating clergyman while Mr. F. Mason played appropriate music on the organ.

Mr. S. Deacon gave away the bride, who wore a gown of ivory satin and lace with embroidered veil and Juliet cap of orange blossoms, while she carried a sheaf of white lilies. Miss Irene Deacon was bridesmaid and was attired in a gown of peach pink georgette trimmed with pale grey fox, with silver lace and sequin cap. Her bouquet was of pink gladioli.

The Matron of Honour, Mrs. Deacon, wore a jade green and beige ensemble.

The duties of best man were performed by Mr. J. Gardner. Following a reception at the Hongkong Hotel, the couple left for Fanning on their honeymoon, the bride's going away dress being a nigger brown lace and tulle gown, with pan velvet toque.

Local Doctor Married

A pretty Chinese wedding of much local social interest was solemnised at the Registry of Marriages on Saturday when Miss Tso Wai-lun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tso Sen Kun, was married to Dr. Cheung Shiu-fan, M.B., B.S., son of the late well known local merchant, Mr. Cheung Hing-tin. The bride is the niece of the Hon. Mr. S. W. Tso, while the bridegroom is a member of the staff of the Kwong Wah Hospital and is well known in medical circles.

Miss Tso Wai-lun was bridesmaid, while Mr. Eric Wong Tapo was best man.

The bride wearing an exquisite dress of satin and white lace, and holding a bouquet of white daisies, was attended by her sister, as bridesmaid, whose dress was of white georgette trimmed with lace.

About four hundred guests attended the reception on the Hongkong Hotel roof garden and among those present were Sir William Hornell, Professor and Mrs. W. I. Gerrard, Professor and Mrs. K. H. Digby, Dr. Arthur Woo, Dr. D. K. Samy, Dr. T. Y. Li, Mr. Chan Lim-pak and many local medical practitioners. Sir William Hornell proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Canton. A dinner party was held at the Nam

THE COTTON STRIKE.

WORK TO BE RESUMED THIS MORNING

London, Nov. 5. The dispute in the Cotton Industry in Lancashire, has come to an end and work is to be resumed on Monday morning.—Reuter.

Insufficient Majority

London, Nov. 6. Work in the Lancashire spinning mills will be in full swing on Monday after several weeks stoppage.

The ballot of the spinners gave only a small majority to continue the strike, whereas a strike decision requires a four to one majority.

The joint committee has agreed to ratify last week's agreement for a 14 per cent reduction in wages.—Our Own Correspondent.

Tong Restaurant on Saturday evening and was largely attended.

Daughter of Dr. B. C. Wong Married

Another fashionable Chinese wedding took place on Saturday at St. John's Church, Ho Mun Tin, when Miss Wong Lu-hing, fourth daughter of Dr. B. C. Wong, became the bride of Mr. Leung Pak-hung, son of General Leung Ling-kai, of Canton.

The Rev. Tsang Ki-nok officiated at the ceremony. Miss Lu Wai-ling was bridesmaid and Mr. Yung Pun-fong was best man.

After the wedding nearly 400 guests attended a reception given in the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel.

A dinner was given subsequently at the Tai Ming Sing Restaurant in Kowloon.

RECEPTION TO
FR. SPADAGLOWING TRIBUTES PAID TO
HIS WORK

ADDRESS PRESENTED

Rev. Fr. G. Spada was the recipient of heartfelt congratulations, and his work as a priest in the Colony for forty years eulogistically referred to at a reception given in his honour at the Club de Recoile by the Catholic community, and members of his parish, yesterday morning.

On the platform were seated the Bishop of Hongkong, the Right Rev. Mgr. H. Vitoria, Mr. G. P. de Martin, Mr. J. M. Castro Basco, Mr. Leo D'Almada, Castro, Rev. Fr. Rossi, Rev. Fr. Byrne, Rev. Fr. Noval, Mr. J. M. Noronha, Mr. F. H. Barnes, Mr. E. V. M. R. de Souza, Rev. Fr. Burns and Fathers from the French Mission.

His Grace the Bishop addressing the gathering commented in glowing terms on the work done by Fr. Spada during his forty years in Hongkong, after which Mr. J. M. Castro Basco read an illuminated address, the contents of which were as follows:

Very Reverend Father Spada, the Roman Catholic community of Kowloon, I have much pleasure in welcoming you here to-day, at the same time thanking you for having accepted our invitation which enables us to express in a small way our deep appreciation of you as our parish priest and friend.

"A few days ago marked the passing of your fortieth year in China, and it has been our good fortune that for the larger part of this long period your field of action has been in our midst. It is difficult adequately to express our gratitude for the manner in which you have so ably discharged your duties. You have been ever ready to sacrifice self for the good of others and your helpful counsel has guided many in their hour of need.

"The zeal that you have always shown, the kindly sympathy extended to all alike, your devotion to your duties with complete self-abnegation, have won the affection of us all. The welfare of your parish has always been your first consideration, and in this connection every task, however irksome, you have undertaken with goodwill and enthusiasm. This attitude has encouraged all to seek your help, in matters spiritual as well as temporal, confident in the knowledge that in your love for your flock they will not be denied.

"Whatever charitable works may be found amongst the Catholics of Kowloon, whatever associations exist for the quickening of their spiritual life we naturally link with your name.

"In Kowloon's early days we had no church, and through your initiative the Rosary Church was built in 1905. Since then our numbers have increased from a mere handful to thousands. Recognising the need of a rapidly growing community, it is owing to your instrumental agency that the Church of St. Teresa is now in course of completion. It is a source of much satisfaction to us, as it must be to you, that your labours in this direction have borne fruit—and is our selfish hope that you will still be with us when this Church celebrates its jubilee.

"We have gladly joined with you this morning in giving special thanks at the Te Deum, when our prayer was that you might long be spared to us as the pastor who has won the love, gratitude and respect of all with whom he has come into contact.

"As your parishioners feel that this occasion should be marked with something a little more tangible than a mere address, I would ask you to be good enough to accept from us this souvenir, an insignificant, but a loving token of our appreciation and gratitude for all you have done and are doing for us."

Clergy's Congratulations.

This was followed by the presentation of a purse by the parishioners of Fr. Spada's Church, the Rosary Church.

Rev. Fr. Byrne then addressed Fr. Spada on behalf of the Clergy, and in doing so said—

"When asked to say a few words on behalf of the Clergy, I at first demurred. Should not this privilege be the privilege of one of the priests who had shared with Fr. Spada the labours of the same working day? When it was pointed out to me that would be a delicate task for one of the immediate household of the Milan Foreign Missionary Society so to speak as the priestly life of Fr. Spada was the living spirit of the Society, I realised that it is often easier to watch impartially the course of a human life when one is not travelling the same bit of road, but looking on from the hill of external admiration.

"You have heard the address on behalf of the laity. It is an expression of sincere gratitude to one who, during forty years, has given himself untiringly—(what a weight of meaning in that little adverb)—to Kowloon, not forgetting the Kowloon Residents' Association, and beyond. Gratitude is naturally the dominating note. What is the dominating thought in the minds of his fellow priests? My friends, I will tell you simply and frankly. It is envy. What you will say, envy! Envy in those whose very Gospel should efface envy!

"It is said that the poet Tennyson went 'moaning about for days,' repeating with endless satisfaction, and expressing the wish that he had been the author of, the lines:

"You must with time decay,
Eileen Aroon!
Beauty must fade away,
Eileen Aroon!
Castles are sacked in war,
Chieftans are scattered far,
Truth is a fixed star,
Eileen Aroon!"

"It is with that kind of envy that the Clergy are envious—and under the word Clergy I include the noble band of Brothers and Sisters without whose co-operation the work of the priest would be handicapped indeed. On this day, Fr. Spada, your Brother Priests pay you the greatest tribute by their legitimate envy when they say: 'Would that in the evening of my life my harvest fields shall have been gleaned as are the fields of Kowloon's tireless Reap!' The laity in their generosity, offer you a souvenir and an illuminated Address which will speak of your work when others shall have inherited your sickle. The Address is for the Presbytery parlour. May I suggest that we, the Clergy, offer you now, in anticipation of a day much greater than the day we commemorate, an inscription. You will not reply to it on earth because you will be enjoying the fruits of it in Heaven. When the Master comes to crown your labours, not of forty but, as we hope, of fifty and more years, we will repeat the words of St. Augustine over St. Cyprian: 'Grieved without doubt was the Church, not for his loss whom she mourned, but for her own, being even desirous of once more possessing so excellent a master. Yet those whom his trials had saddened, could not but rejoice in his reception. On this day it is our privilege, not to fear, but to rejoice."

Fr. Spada's Labour of Love.

"Attention has been called to the visible works inspired by Fr. Spada: the churches which he has built, or the building of which he has stimulated; the schools which he has founded; the Association which he has guided. If we look at brick and stone, strictly speaking we find only one church which is Fr. Spada's church, the Rosary Church. But we do not estimate the life of a priest by foundation stone laid; we estimate the value of his life by the shrines which he has consecrated to the Spirit of Love. The contrast is drawn in the prophet Aggeus: 'between what appears and what is. The magnificent Temple of Solomon had been destroyed. A now on had been built to replace it. He devoid of splendour it seemed to those who had seen the old temple in its glory, yet it was this temple that the 'Lord God of host' was to fill with glory' because in it the Lord God Himself was to enter. I said the Rosary Church is Fr. Spada's church, but who will count the shrines that Fr. Spada has consecrated in living souls in Kowloon, in Monks, nay, all over the Colony? The prophet continues 'in this place I will place,' who can tell us the number of hearts that found peace in the counsel of their Pastor?

"It has often been said as a tribute to Fr. Spada that he speaks many languages: Italian, Chinese, English, Portuguese, French, Spanish. To be a linguist is an asset to a priest. I should be inclined to say that Fr. Spada speaks one language, the language of love, and that is why all, irrespective of class, irrespective of nationality, irrespective of all external differences which make intercourse difficult, find that he speaks their language, the language of the heart, which is the language that we can all understand. It was the Master's language, it should be His Priests'. On this day, your Brother Priests, Fr. Spada, congratulate you on this more than anything else, and we find in the beautiful lines of Cardinal Newman the expression of our tribute:

"I know him by his head of snow,
His ready smile, his keen full eye,
His words which kindle as they flow,
Save he be rapt in ecstasy.
He comes, by grace of his address,
By the sweet music of his face,
And his low tones of tenderness,
To melt a noble, stubborn race."

Ad Multos Annos.

Mr. G. P. de Martin said that he did not have anything further to say to what had already been said about Fr. Spada's worth, but as he counted Fr. Spada as one of his oldest friends, no power on earth could stop him from taking the opportunity to extend to him heartfelt congratulations and his best wishes for still more years of useful and self-sacrificing work among his parishioners.

Fr. Spada's Thanks.

In a few words Fr. Spada thanked everybody present and his parishioners for the beautiful address presented to him, and said that he had no intimation about his forty years work until he saw it in the papers, and it seemed to him that everyone knew more about his work, and found out things which he himself did not know. He thanked the congregation and parishioners for the generous way in which they helped towards the building of the church of St. Theresa, which was one of his particular desires.

The band of the Salesian Fathers was in attendance during the reception.

MILITARY BRANCH HOLD
SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION

The Military Branch of the M.C.L. held a most successful afternoon at the Helena May Institute on Friday. Thirty-three tables, supervised by Captain Barry, R.A., were occupied by contract and auction bridge, and mahjong players.

Mrs. Southern, wife of H. E. the Officer Administering the Government, very kindly presented the prizes, after a few introductory remarks by Mrs. Wood (President of the M. C. L.) who called for a vote of thanks to the organisers, Mrs. Dunsterville, (Military Representative to the M. C. L.) and to her assistants, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Fasken.

H. E. the Gen. Officer Commanding the British Troops in China, Major General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O. presented a carved pink jade box as 1st prize for contract bridge, which was won by Mrs. Tratman.

Other prizes were—2nd prize, cut crystal necklace, presented by Mrs. Renshaw, won by Mrs. C. M. Hall; 1st prize, auction bridge, Peking glass bowl, presented by Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Dunsterville, won by Mrs. Mousley; 2nd prize, auction bridge, linen luncheon set, presented by Mrs. Fasken, won by Miss Stevenson; 1st prize, mahjong, 12 Peking glass cocktail goblets, presented by Mrs. Raikes and Mrs. Atkinson, won by Mrs. Baynam; 2nd prize, linen tea cloth and napkins, presented by Mrs. Myles, won by Mrs. H. Wilson; Hidden prize, painted glass bottle presented by Mrs. Wood, won by Mrs. Mayhew; Consolation prizes, won by Lady Mary Barton and Mrs. Moir, presented by Mrs. Alex. Anderson.

Many of these articles were obtained from the Jade Tree, Ltd. who were also the generous donors of a handsome opium stool, won by Mrs. Bowers Smith in the Raffle which was drawn by Mrs. Griffen. Another attention which helped to sell many a ticket in the above was a free permanent wave, given by Madame Juliette, whose well-equipped beauty parlour in Kowloon is well known. This was won by Mrs. Barry. The other lucky ticket holders were Mrs. McClay, who got a beautiful piece of Saigon embroidery presented by Mrs. Gowan; Mrs. Chalmers, who won a water colour sketch of Hongkong painted and presented by Lady Mary Barton, and Mrs. Dunbar, who appropriately enough became the owner of the excellent study of horses painted and presented by Mrs. Eve. Through the generous support of the N.A.A.F.I. and Messrs. Lane, Crawford, the ladies who gave the home made fudge, and those who contributed to an ample tea, which was gracefully dispensed by Mesdames Shillington, Barry, the Mesdames Cousins, Boyd, Fullerton, Gowan, the expenses are few, and it is expected that the proceeds will exceed $500. The same young people sold cigarettes, which were generously donated by the British American Tobacco Co.

The organisers desire to express their thanks to Mrs. Southern, and to all those who co-operated with them towards the success of the afternoon.

CHINESE MERCHANTS URGE RATIFICATION

Shanghai, Nov. 6. Delegates representing Chinese merchants in Annam are going to Nanking from Shanghai to-night in order to urge the Government to do everything possible to accelerate France's ratification of the commercial treaty between China, Annam and France.—Reuter's Special.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST, HONGKONG

"Adam and fallen man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." (John 3: 6.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true. Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go... Ye are from beneath; I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world" (John 8: 12-14, 23.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jehovah declared the ground was accursed; and from this ground, or matter, sprang Adam, notwithstanding God had blessed the earth 'for man's sake.' From this it follows that Adam was not the ideal man for whom the earth was blessed. The ideal man was revealed in due time, and was known as Christ Jesus." (P. 338: 27.)

he was headed for Asper's room. She reached the steps well out of breath. Swergin had gone to his office instead of to her father's room. Dona sat down to catch her breath. She meant to stay right there until the timber boss came out.

Swergin remained in his office through the supper hour. Dona carried Asper's tray of food to him and waited while he ate but the big boss did not come out of his office. Dudley appeared, looking fresh and rested. He sat beside Asper while Dona went to snatch a bite of dinner. She was able to whisper to him to watch for Swergin as she went out.

Darkness had settled as Dona returned from the cook cabin. There was a promise of a moon in a few hours. She heard voices in her father's room and ran up the steps. Swergin was standing in the middle of the floor, his feet planted wide. On his face was a stubborn expression and his massive chin was thrust forward aggressively. Asper Deol was sitting up and he was shaking with anger.

AIR RAIDS IN N. MANCHURIA

JAPANESE COMMENCE CAMPAIGN

ANTA HEAVILY BOMBED

Harbin, Nov. 7.
Vigorous aerial bombing raids are being organised by the Japanese military authorities, to be followed later by a land expedition, in an effort to relieve the anti-Manchukuo pressure upon Tsitsihar, and the menace of the anti-Manchukuo operations in the Harbin area.

Yesterday, a powerful squadron of aeroplanes sailed down upon the town of Anta, some seventy miles to the north-west of Harbin, on the Chinese Eastern Railway, and bombed the city, where a large force of Volunteers have been concentrated.

The bombing raid was made from Tsitsihar where the Japanese have established a strong air base. Noho, another anti-Manchukuo stronghold, ninety miles to the north of Tsitsihar, was next to feel the power of Japan's air arm. The Japanese schedule provides for the bombardment of Noho from the air to-day.

In the meantime, following the air attack on Anta, a combined Japanese and Manchukuo force is now advancing to the city, where a severe battle is expected.—Reuter.

Canton, Nov. 5.
Gambling and other vices should not in any circumstances be indulged by Government officials and employees on pain of severe penalty, according to an order of the South-West Political Council.

In these days of national crisis and external danger, officials are expected to preserve all their energy and spirit to grapple with the situation, so to indulge in a life of dissipation would undermine Government efficiency, the order said.

Gendarmes and police will comb the restaurants, hotels and clubs and will arrest Government employees if they are found spending time in such harmful pastime.—Central Press.

DRIZZLE OR MIST

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone over N. China continues to increase in intensity. The depression is situated in the Sea of Japan to the south-east of Hokkaido. Fresh to strong monsoon will prevail along the China coast and over the Northern China Sea. Local forecast.—N.E. winds, fresh to strong; cloudy, drizzle or mist.

A charge against Capt. H. S. Lou, of the S.S. Tolshan, for having worked cargo on Sunday, October 30, was dismissed by the Hon. Comdr. Ho, at the Marine Court this morning, owing to the prosecuting officer, Sergeant Dixie, failing to be present. Mr. P. H. Losby appeared on behalf of the Captain, and entered a plea of not guilty.

C.E.C. OUTBURST MYSTERY

Canton Mystified as to Meaning

NO APPOINTMENT MADE

Canton, Nov. 5.
A mild sensation was created here by the statement made by Mr. Chu Min-yi, Secretary General of the Nanking Executive Yuan, who declared that the appointment by the South-West Political Council of three delegates to attend the third plenary session of the Central Executive Committee was unprecedented, adding that although members unable to attend might ask others to submit their written proposals to the session, no members of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee were entitled to appoint proxies.

From high official circles, the Central Press learned to-day that the criticism by Mr. Chu Min-yi is not based on facts, as the South-West Political Council has had nothing to do with the appointment of delegates to the third plenary session. In fact, the report of the appointment of three delegates is unfounded.

The Central Press is informed that members of the Central Executive Committee residing in Canton will proceed to Nanking to attend the third plenary session, except those who are tied down by important official posts. Hence there is no necessity for acting by proxy. In point of fact, no such suggestion has ever been made by the C.E.C. members here, who wonder on what Mr. Chu's outburst is based.—Central Press.
